The International Standard Industrial Classification of All Economic Activities (ISIC) is a system of codes for classifying economic activities. It is used by the United Nations and its member states to collect, analyze, and disseminate statistical data on the economy.

PREFACE

This volume is a revision of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual published in 1948.

The Standard Industrial Classification is used widely in statistical work and for non-statistical purposes such as setting up files and maintaining records. Significant developments have occurred in Canadian industry since the first edition of this Manual was published. Growth of existing industries, the establishment of new industries, technological developments and the introduction of new materials have affected relationships within and between industries. The need for some revision of the Standard Industrial Classification became increasingly apparent in recent years. Late in 1956, therefore, a committee, representing users of the classification in DBS, was established and it held regular meetings in which all aspects of the classification structure and its implementation were given careful scrutiny. The proposed revision was then circulated to obtain comments and suggestions from interested organizations and individuals.

It is not necessary to emphasize the importance of the Standard Classification both as an instrument for co-ordinating data obtained from different sources and as a convenience to the user of statistics in indicating the scope of data appearing under a particular heading. The standardization of definitions and techniques in the gathering and compiling of statistics is one of the important functions of a central statistical office such as DBS.

The members of the Committee on Industrial Classification are: Neil L. McKellar (Chairman), V.R. Berlinguette, A. Cohen, A.D. Holmes, A.H. LeNeveu, R.J. Loosmore, Miss M.E.K. Roughsedge, J.A. Sawyer, Miss A.G. Wood.

In addition, as each group of industries was considered, those immediately concerned with the collection and compilation of statistics from that group were made members of the committee.

Comments and suggestions have been received from interested individuals and organizations in all parts of the country. Their valuable assistance in the preparation of this manual is gratefully acknowledged. Final responsibility for the form and content of the Manual rests, however, with DBS.

INTRODUCTION

This volume is a revision of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual published in 1948. It incorporates changes considered desirable on the basis of experience in using the earlier edition as well as those which take account of changes in the structure of Canadian Industry associated with the rapid developments of the past decade. In addition to revising the structure of the classification, the Committee has given careful consideration to the principles upon which the classification is based and the rules that are appropriate for its implementation in different fields.

The objective of a standard classification system is to provide a common framework so that comparable data can be secured from different statistical sources. In the absence of such a system, data obtained on different surveys tend to be compiled on an ad hoc basis without regard to comparable information available elsewhere. Thus, the full potentialities of the statistical system are not realized. To attain the objective of comparable data, however, it is necessary to have more than simply a standard classification structure. The classification must be implemented uniformly and this requires a set of definitions and rules governing its application. In addition, it is necessary that both those who compile the statistics and those who use them appreciate the nature of the classification and the means by which it is applied in practice.

The Nature of the Classification

This classification is one of industries and not occupations or commodities. The term "industry" is used here in its broadest sense to include all economic activity from the primary industries such as agriculture and forestry to those concerned with the rendering of services. An industry is composed of establishments engaged in the same or a similar kind of economic activity, e.g. logging camps, coal mines, clothing factories, department stores, laundries. An occupation, on the other hand, is a job or a set of tasks that require a body of skills, knowledge, experience or aptitudes. An occupation can be said to be represented by a number of jobs or a group of individuals doing the same or similar work. Commodities are either materials, materials that have been processed or end-products. They are the output of industries or the materials and supplies used by industries or the products bought and sold in particular industries or goods bought by consumers. Data that reveal the operations of the economy consist not only of information relating to the various industries, but also those dealing with the production, transport or distribution of commodities and information on occupations. Thus, the three kinds of classification systems are inter-related yet each is separate and they must be clearly distinguished. It should be noted that the DBS has a Standard Commodity Classification and an Occupational Classification which is used in connection with the Census and other statistical surveys obtaining data on occupations.

Some commodities tend to be associated with particular industries and often industries are defined in terms of their principal products. For example, the automobile industry, the rubber industry, the electrical appliance industry are often mentioned yet each of these industries turns out a variety of commodities and rarely does one encounter an industry that produces only one commodity. Nevertheless, the tendency to identify industries and commodities is widespread. For purposes of statistical compilation and analysis, however, the two must be clearly distinguished and it must be understood that most industries produce or handle a variety of commodities and are themselves identified in terms of the principal commodity concerned.

Similarly, certain occupations are associated with particular industries. Examples are, the building trades, printing trades or metal trades. Occupations of any of these types, however, are found in a wide range of industries, (e.g. carpenters are found in mines, factories, department stores, school systems and in fact in almost every industry.) Similarly, printers are found in a variety of industries and so are sheet metal workers. Other occupations such as truck driver, stenographer and accountant are not associated with any industry in particular but are found in all industries. Thus, the occupation and the classification of occupations must be kept clearly separate from the classification of industries.

The Unit to be Classified

There is general agreement that in most cases the unit for which data are obtained and which is therefore classified to an industry is the establishment. It is not easy, however, to obtain general agreement on the exact nature of an establishment. A number of different units can be identified for various purposes and perhaps it will help to understand the nature of the establishment if the alternative units are also described. Some of these are:

The enterprise, which is a firm or an aggregation of firms under common ownership and financial control. Most enterprises are individual firms and for many purposes such as collecting financial data the firm is the appropriate unit. In some cases, however, firms which may be in widely different industries are associated with one another through common management and financial control. An example is the Canadian Pacific group of companies which includes railroads, steamship lines, an air line, hotels. The element of common financial control, however, implies one integrated plan for the allocation of resources among these firms and therefore a common investment program. Thus, to obtain data on investment plans it is necessary in many cases to use this wider concept of the enterprise as the statistical unit. No smaller unit would be able to provide the information required.

The firm. This results from a legal arrangement and may be a sole proprietorship, partnership, corporation or other form of organization such as a co-operative. Most firms consist of only one establishment but in some cases the firm is made up of a number of establishments which may or may not be engaged in the same kind of economic activity. Some multi-establishment firms such as chain stores or those with units engaged in different stages in the production of a particular kind of product (e.g. a spinning mill and weaving mill having common ownership) have establishments which are classed in the same industry. In other cases, however, firms have separate establishments producing quite different articles or separate establishments performing quite dissimilar activities (e.g. a factory and a group of wholesale outlets) and in these cases the establishments are classified to different industries.

For some purposes such as financial statistics, including profits, the firm and not the establishment is the appropriate unit for obtaining the required data and for classification by industry. In general, however, a more precise classification by industry is obtained through the use of the establishment and it is therefore used for all items of data for which it is appropriate.

The department is a part of an operating organization concerned with one aspect of that operation and usually associated with a particular activity. For example, the shipping department or the advertising department of a manufacturing concern. Certain items of data can be obtained from a department such as the amount of work done (in whatever units are appropriate), the number of employees in the department as such, the supplies used directly by the department. However, a department uses common facilities belonging to the organization as a whole and it is not possible to get information on the total employment required for the department's operations or the total of materials, fuel and other supplies used without resorting to some arbitrary method of allocation.

The establishment is typically a factory, mine, store or similar unit and in most cases it is a separate firm. It can also be an individual working on his own account.

For statistical purposes an "establishment" is defined as the smallest unit which is a separate operating entity capable of reporting all elements of basic industrial statistics. This means that for purposes of industrial surveys data are gathered from the most homogeneous units that maintain accounts which permit them to report on their main elements of input and output. The majority of "establishments" are firms but many firms have more than one establishment. Thus, if data were gathered using the firm as the statistical unit, the industrial categories or classes would have to be broader than when the establishment is used. On the other hand, almost all establishments contain smaller subdivisions (departments) engaged in particular activities such as delivery or purchasing. Some items of data can be obtained from these smaller units (for example, direct labour or goods shipped) but they do not have records that yield all of the statistical items required of an establishment. Thus, the range of information obtained would have to be restricted if this smaller unit were used as the statistical unit.

The items of data required of an establishment are: on the input side—materials used, process supplies used, fuel and power consumed, goods purchased for resale, earnings and employment; and on the output side—commodities sold, shipped or produced (which in some cases may require inventory data), whichever is appropriate; or revenue; or other appropriate measure of services rendered. Different inputs and outputs apply in different industrial sectors and the above are merely illustrations of the main elements. The important consideration is that the elements of input and output permit the calculation of "value added" or "gross mark-up" or "gross profit" as well as providing related data on total employment. The data on products or services should be available for both quantities and values, wherever applicable, and those for employment should be in terms of numbers employed or its equivalent.

Theoretically, an establishment would be engaged in only one kind of activity in one location but in practice such an ideal establishment is rarely encountered. Thus, the unit for which information is usually obtained on statistical surveys is engaged in a number of activities and sometimes these activities take place in different locations. The following discussion deals with the main kinds of situations that are encountered.

(a) Establishments that operate in more than one industry division. Some establishments have activities that are assigned to different divisions of the classification, (e.g. a manufacturing establishment that sells, at wholesale or retail, products of its own manufacture and in addition buys goods for resale.) When the principal activity of such an establishment is manufacturing, it is classified as a whole to manufacturing, but where its principal activity is wholesale trade or retail trade, it is classified as a whole to trade. In order to determine the principal activity, net values added by its different activities should be used. For example, in the case of manufacturing and trade activity, the data supplied by the establishment should be such that both the "value added" in manufacturing and the "gross mark-up" on the commodities purchased for resale can be calculated. "Value added" consists of the difference between the value of products manufactured in a period and the value of the materials and fuel used in their manufacture. The "gross mark-up" on purchased goods sold consists of the difference between the cost of such goods and their selling price. The assignment of the establishment to an industry division depends upon which of these is the greater.

On the other hand, in the case of establishments having activities confined to one particular division of the classification, the principal activity for assigning the establishment to an individual industry is determined on the basis of the gross revenue obtained from the different products produced or handled, or services rendered. The use of "net values" or "values added" by the different products would be preferred in these cases but the data are not available.

Some firms are so organized that their activities extend over a number of stages in the production or fabrication of a product which may include extraction or processing of crude materials as well as the fabricating and finishing processes leading to the final product. For example, a gravel or sand pit may be combined with a plant making concrete products or a textile mill may handle processes extending from spinning to weaving, dyeing and finishing of textiles. In these cases, so long as sales of intermediate products do not predominate, the objective of the operation is the final product and a realistic value can be applied only at the point of sale of the final product. Thus, unless records are maintained permitting the isolation of separate establishments for different stages the whole operation is classified to the industry indicated by the nature of the final product. This rule does not apply to manufacturing establishments which sell, at wholesale or retail, only goods of their own making and which are classed as manufacturers. Many bakeries and dairies are in this category. Metal mines operated in conjunction with smelting and refining are also handled differently, the mining and smelting operations being treated as separate establishments.

(b) Establishments having ancillary units, head offices and regional offices. Some establishments have ancillary units such as garages, warehouses, sales offices, or units making containers or packaging materials, which may be housed in the same building as the main establishment or may be separately located. In general, such ancillary units will be able to provide the information required from an establishment only if they sell their products or services mainly to outsiders. In such a case, they are considered to be separate establishments and are assigned to the industry indicated by the principal activity. If the required records are not available, however, an ancillary unit that serves one establishment or a number of identical establishments is assigned along with the main establishment on the basis of the establishment's principal activity. This course is followed regardless of the location of the ancillary unit.

Some firms have head offices (administrative offices) and perhaps also regional offices which are reported separately because they serve more than one establishment. If such offices serve only one or a number of identical operating establishments (factories, mines or hotels, for example) then the separate offices are assigned to the same industry as the operating establishment(s).

In the case of large complex firms having establishments in different industries (and even in different industry divisions) the ancillary units that serve more than one establishment are not associated particularly with any one industry. Such units are more like firms or enterprises than like establishments from the viewpoint of industrial classification and therefore they are classified at the major group (2 digit) and not at the industry (3 digit) level on the basis of the principal activity of the establishments served. The third digit zero "0" has been reserved for this purpose. Thus, head offices, regional offices, sales offices, central or district warehouses, research laboratories, garages, and other such units serving establishments of a firm primarily engaged in petroleum refining would be coded 360, while those serving units of a firm primarily engaged in railway transport would be coded 500.

When head offices, regional offices or ancillary units are located apart from any of the establishments they serve, they can usually provide separate payroll records and data on such factors as supplies used and electricity or other power consumed. If any of these units is attached physically to a particular establishment the range of separate data available may be narrower. In any case, ancillary units (which are not establishments) of a complex firm are classified only at the two-digit level.

Geographical Statistics

Each establishment is treated as a unit. Thus, an establishment having ancillary units in different geographical areas is assigned as a whole to the area in which the main part of the establishment is located. Certain aspects of the operations of the ancillary units can, however, be reported separately if this is desirable. A full range of principal statistics (i.e. employment, materials used or purchased, power consumed, and shipments, sales or production) are available only for the establishment as a whole and are, therefore, assigned to the principal location. Particular items of statistics, such as direct employment, or sales of a particular kind may, however, be obtained separately for the different units and assigned, in appropriate tables, to the areas in which the units are located.

If applied in this way, the standard classification framework provides a means for assembling principal statistics from the different sources into one comprehensive table by industries. It is, therefore, a useful instrument in the integration of industrial statistics obtained from a wide variety of sources.

Assigning an Establishment to a Particular Class

Each establishment is assigned to a class (three-digit industry) on the basis of its principal source of revenue. This is determined by the gross value of shipments or production (mining, manufacturing, agriculture, forestry, fishing), sales (wholesale or retail trade) or revenue (transportation and other utilities, finance, insurance, real estate, and service) attributable to each kind of activity. In the case of government or similar establishments for which revenue data are not applicable, the payroll associated with each activity is used as the closest approximation available. When two or more products or activities are included in the same industry class they are taken to be the same product or activity for purposes of industrial classification. The use of "net values" or "values added" by the different products or activities would be preferred in assigning an establishment to a class. This information is rarely available, however, and it is unlikely that respondents could supply it in a uniform or consistent manner. Gross values as outlined above provide the closest approximation available to the results that would be obtained from using "net values".

A few establishments have very mixed activities and their principal products or activities may account for a minor part of their gross revenue. In such cases a small shift in activity can change the principal product or source of revenue. Movements of establishments from one industry to another should indicate significant shifts in their activities because they show up in the data as changes in the industrial structure. Thus, individual establishments are not switched from industry to industry each year merely because of a change in product mix resulting from temporary market or supply conditions which are just as likely to change back the next year. In any case the calendar year is no more appropriate a period than any other for determining the principal activity of an establishment. The principal activity (industry) to which an establishment is assigned indicates the main kind of activity upon which the establishment depends for its continued existence and in most cases a period longer than a year is appropriate for assigning establishments with very mixed activities to an industry class. When an establishment has been primarily engaged in one line for some time and it shifts to another, the nature of the change will often indicate whether or not it is likely to be permanent.

Basis of the Classification System

In designing a classification system, it is necessary to establish the criteria upon which the units being classified are distinguished from one another. This entails setting forth certain characteristics of the units (in this case, establishments) so that the nature of these characteristics in the different kinds of establishments can be considered.

Clearly, the classification system will become confused if more than one set of criteria is used in any particular section of it. In different divisions of the classification, however, different kinds of establishments are encountered and therefore it is necessary to look at slightly different characteristics. In mining, the individual mine is the typical establishment; in manufacturing it is the factory or workshop; in construction the firm is often the smallest unit able to provide a full range of "establishment" data but some figures (e.g. employment) may be available for individual projects at particular sites; and in trade it is the wholesale house or retail store. No one set of criteria will apply in all these cases. Thus, it has been found useful to consider the basic criteria separately for each of the main industry divisions. For example, farms are distinguished on the basis of the kind of product; mines, by the kind of ore mined; construction establishments by the kind of project undertaken; establishments in trade by the kind of commodity handled and those in service by the kind of service rendered. In each case, the type of subdivision made is determined by the nature of the product or service in the light of the groupings required for analytical purposes.

Manufacturing industries present a particular problem in this connection. Establishments are classified according to the nature of their principal products but the nature of the product may be determined on different bases. In some cases the product is characterized according to its purpose, for example, food, clothing, transportation equipment. At other times the chief component material of the product is used, for example, leather products, wood products, non-metallic mineral products.

Neither of these bases is wholly satisfactory because an attempt to apply one of them throughout the whole range of manufacturing industry results in a large heterogeneous miscellaneous category. Purpose or use can be applied only in the case of manufactured articles that have been processed to the point where their main purpose is apparent, for example, apparel, transportation equipment, machinery or furniture. This is not possible for such materials as leather or lumber or metal, any of which may be used for a wide variety of purposes. The chief component material can be established satisfactorily for products that have been simply fabricated but for more elaborate products and for those which can be made out of alternative materials, the criterion of chief component material cannot be applied usefully. For example, furniture may be classed as wood product but many types of furniture are made of products other than wood, such as metal and plastics. Even furniture that is basically or mainly wood contains metal in the form of hardware; upholstery material of textile, metal or leather; and glass in doors or panels. Thus, the most useful classification for industries producing articles such as furniture is by the purpose of the principal product and not by its chief component material.

It will be found, therefore, that in the present classification, manufacturing industries producing mainly crude materials or processed materials are classified on the basis of chief component material under such headings as Wood Industries, Leather Industries, Primary Metal Industries, Non-metallic Mineral Industries. Manufacturing industries that produce mainly end-products are, however, classified on the basis of the purpose of the product under such headings as Food and Beverage Industries, Clothing Industries, Machinery Industries, Transportation Equipment Industries.

Criteria for Establishing a "Class"

For purposes of the Standard Industrial Classification, the "Class" or three-digit grouping is an industry. Thus, the problem encountered in deciding which categories should be distinguished at the three-digit level is in reality the problem of defining industries. Rarely does one encounter an establishment that produces or handles only one thing and the range of products associated with a particular establishment is often quite diverse. It is necessary to find points at which distinctions based on the kinds of products produced or handled result in significant groupings and the traditional concept of "industry" used in economic theory is of limited value in this connection. In theory, an industry is taken to be a group of establishments each of which produces a single identical product or, in the case of the theory of monopolistic or imperfect competition, a similar but differentiated product. Thus, on the theoretical level, an industry is defined purely on the basis of the product that it produces or handles and any change in the nature of the product would result in a transfer of the establishment from one industry to another.

It will be clear from the above that if establishments conformed to the assumed conditions of economic theory, data obtained on the basis of industries could be used as pertaining also to particular commodities. In practice, however, it is found that although establishments are organized for the purpose of carrying on a specific activity, the extent to which this involves specialization on a particular commodity or narrow range of commodities varies. Then as the establishment develops, the changes associated with that development may involve the production or handling of additional products or services. The situation actually encountered, then, is establishments which, from the viewpoint of their products, offer an almost limitless range of possible combinations. The different products associated with a particular establishment may be quite incompatible from some viewpoints such as substitution for purposes of consumption. The Meat Packing Industry, for example, has products ranging from meat and other foods to fertilizers and soap. On the other hand, some of these same products may be found in the chemical industries which also turn out pharmaceuticals, materials for food preparations, and textile fibres. It is for this reason that industries are defined in terms of their principal products and although the establishments in an industry are primarily concerned with the same or very similar products, the range of subsidiary products is very great. (It should be noted that the term "products" as used here refers not only to tangible commodities but also to services.)

In establishing a "class" or three-digit grouping in the industrial classification, it is necessary to investigate the range of products associated with particular groups of establishments. The Committee has done this and has used all readily available sources to determine whether a proposed group based upon a particular kind of principal product would in fact yield significant data. Such a group must contain enough establishments to ensure that the statistics are not unduly influenced by the operations of a particular firm and it must be large enough in terms of number of employees, value of production or shipments, or other measure, to provide useful data. In general, also, it is advisable that an industry account for a significant proportion of the output of its principal product, because the product and the industry tend to be closely associated in the minds of those who use the data. Hard and fast rules cannot be applied to determine the proportion of the total production or sales of a principal product that should be accounted for by the group of establishments constituting the industry. The desirable proportion varies according to the degree of association between the product in question and any industry but in general, it can be said that in drawing up this classification the Committee has aimed at a proportion of at least 50% and in most cases that proportion is 75% or more.

In order to assist in answering such questions as these, the Committee was fortunate in being able to consult officers of the D.B.S. who are responsible for compiling detailed statistics of the different industries. As each group of industries was being considered, the officer responsible for the statistics of that industry group was made a member of the Committee.

Establishments Engaged in Repair Work

The classification by industry of establishments primarily engaged in repair work presents special problems and different practices are followed in various countries. The Canadian Standard Industrial Classification has, in the past, classed establishments engaged in repair work in the Manufacturing Division. The annual Manufacturing Census, however, excludes most specialized repair shops from its coverage and they have been covered each ten years by the decennial Census of Distribution which placed them in the Service Group of industries. One of the main purposes of the Standard Industrial Classification is to achieve uniformity of practice in different surveys and therefore a special attempt was made in the course of this revision to find a method of classifying repair establishments that would be acceptable to all concerned.

It must be remembered that repair activity is carried on in a great many industries as a subsidiary activity. Thus, some machinery manufacturers have departments in which repair work is done; some electrical appliance manufacturers undertake the repair of their own appliances; and many establishments in construction, such as those doing electrical and plumbing work, do both new construction and repair work. If then, establishments primarily engaged in repair work of different kinds are set up as separate industries, it will be found in most cases that the establishments making up those industries do a minor share of all the repair work performed. The main exceptions to this are shoe repair, watch repair, and motor vehicle repair shops in which a significant portion of the total repair work of these types is done in specialized shops. Only in the case of shoe repair, however, is the repair work done predominantly in specialized shops and not in connection with retailing, wholesaling or manufacturing of the product concerned.

On examining the data, it was found that more repair work on motor vehicles is performed in establishments primarily engaged in retail trade than in specialist repair garages; more repair work is done on electrical appliances in establishments primarily engaged in retail trade than in specialized repair shops; and the same is true for watch and jewellery repair work. It was decided that the most satisfactory results would be obtained by classing specialized repair shops in the same main division of the classification as the industries in which the major part of that kind of repair activity is carried on. When the specialized repair shops constitute an important group of establishments in themselves, they are set up as a separate three-digit industry within the major division.

In accordance with this decision, classes have been established for repair shops in a number of different divisions. For example, in retail trade separate classes are provided for Motor Vehicle Repair Shops; Radio, Television and Electrical Appliance Repair Shops; and Watch and Jewellery Repair Shops. In the Personal Services group of industries, a separate class is established for Shoe Repair Shops while in the Miscellaneous Services group, there is a class for Blacksmithing and Welding Shops and one for Miscellaneous Repair Shops which includes those engaged in harness repair, armature rewinding, locksmithing, gunsmithing, lawnmower sharpening and the like. Other kinds of repair shops are included with the industry in which the major part of that activity is carried on, for example, furniture repair shops are included with Furniture Manufacturers; typewriter and office machine repair shops are included with Wholesalers of Machinery and Equipment, n.e.s.; bicycle repair shops, fountain pen repair shops, and musical instrument repair shops are included with retailers of these articles, i.e. with Retail Stores, n.e.s.; This is not an exhaustive list, but it indicates the nature of the decision taken with respect to the classification of establishments primarily engaged in repair work.

Classification of Government Establishments

In an industrial classification, each establishment is classified according to its principal activity. Thus, a government-owned and operated establishment engaged in an activity assigned to a particular industry is classified to that industry; for example, a government-owned railroad, electric generating station, or retail liquor store is classed along with other railroads, generating stations or retail stores. If this were not done, data from different communities having different degrees of government ownership and of government participation in the economic life of the area would not yield comparable industry statistics. Similarly, the statistics obtained from particular surveys over a period of time would be influenced by changes in ownership whether or not they also involved changes in the kind of economic activity carried on. The aim, therefore, is to classify as Public Administration or Government those establishments engaged in activities of a strictly governmental nature such as the enactment of legislation, the administration of justice, the collection of revenue, and defence.

The delineation of establishments in public administration and defence presents particular difficulties. These arise from the fact that many governmental agencies receive their revenues, or the bulk of them, from general government funds and therefore the usual measures of "value of output" are not applicable. It is desirable to use as consistent a set of criteria as possible to determine the nature of output in different branches of industry. The preferred criterion for determining the nature of output is the "net revenue" or the "value added" associated with different products although gross revenue is used in most cases. For government establishments, the measure most closely approximating "value added" appears to be the payrolls associated with particular activities or, if these data are not available, the numbers employed. An establishment in the field of government is a unit formed for the purpose of carrying on a particular kind of activity and it has records which indicate the amount of work or amount of expense involved in that activity. Such government establishments may contain subsidiary units carrying on activities such as transport, printing, employee health, or other functions of an internal nature and not dealing directly with the public. Ancillary units that are not separate establishments are included with the main establishment.

Since the organization of government administration in various municipalities, provinces and the federal government are all somewhat different, it is not possible to generalize with respect to the specific establishments that can be isolated or the industries to which they can be classified. The object is to obtain agreement in principle and then to prepare, from time to time, lists of establishments operated by governments showing the industries to which they are assigned.

International Standards

International organizations responsible for the assembling and publication of statistics from different countries have proposed, over the years, international standard classifications with a view to obtaining comparable data. So far as industrial classifications are concerned, the first international classification to be used on any scale was that of the League of Nations and was part of a systematic treatment of the "gainfully occupied" population and its main components. The Second World War interrupted the development and use of this classification, however, and when the United Nations was established after the war it took over the statistical work formerly carried on by the League. Thus, in 1948 the United Nations Statistical Commission proposed an International Standard Industrial Classification (ISIC) which was adopted and circulated to member countries for use in assembling statistics required by international bodies. This classification, as amended in 1958, is the one now used to obtain internationally comparable statistics by industry.

The United Nations does not expect countries to adopt the international industrial classification for their internal use because the structure of industry is different in various countries and a classification scheme must conform to the industrial structure of the area in which it is applied. It is expected, however, that each country in establishing and amending its domestic classification, will take the international classification into account and so arrange its own classes that they can be re-grouped into the international structure. This has been done where possible in the present revision of the Canadian Standard Industrial Classification. Thus, except where the structure of Canadian industry is such that it is impossible to do so, the Canadian classification is so arranged that it can be re-grouped in terms of the ISIC.

Differences between the data required by the International Standard Industrial Classification and those that can be assembled from the Canadian classification according to the international structure are not great. If a particular activity is important in the economic life of the country, it forms the basis for one or more separate industries which can be re-grouped. Only when particular activities are not large or are not important are they combined with others in such a manner that the resulting industries cannot be re-grouped according to a different arrangement. For example, the international classification calls for an industry in the Manufacturing Division for "Repair of Motor Vehicles and Cycles" and another industry for "Manufacture of Bicycles". In Canada, because of the nature of the establishments being classified, it has been decided to have a separate industry in Retail Trade for Motor Vehicle Repair Shops and to include establishments primarily engaged in repairing bicycles with retailers of bicycles and similar articles because the major part of the repair work done on bicycles is done in establishments which also sell bicycles. Few motor vehicle repair shops in Canada do repair work on cycles. Investigation has shown also that in Canada it is not possible to have a separate industry for Manufacture of Bicycles. There are very few establishments in Canada primarily engaged in manufacturing bicycles and most establishments that manufacture bicycles are engaged primarily in the manufacture of tricycles and other children's vehicles and sporting goods. Thus, in the Canadian classification, establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing bicycles are included in the "Sporting Goods and Toy Industry".

Extent of Detail in the Classification

In revising the Standard Industrial Classification the Committee considered whether it should propose a more detailed set of classes than those in the original Manual. In many industrial divisions those responsible for annual surveys of particular industries use more detailed classes which are subdivisions of the three-digit Standard Industrial Classification categories. It was felt that the Standard Classification should be restricted to classes which the majority of users can be expected to apply. Those using more detailed categories are then free to provide whatever they require as further breakdowns of the standard structure. Appendix I on page 49 gives a list of the three- and four-digit manufacturing industries used in the Annual Census of Industry.

DESCRIPTIONS OF INDUSTRIES

DIVISION 1 - AGRICULTURE

Ind.
No.

The classification of establishments engaged in agricultural activity presents certain special problems. In most cases a farm is both a place of business and a home and usually it is difficult to separate the activities of the farmer and his family in connection with the operation of the farm and the operation of the home. Farming is carried on as a part-time activity in many cases, particularly near cities and in areas where farming is associated with forestry and fishing. In addition, it is customary to classify many farms merely as "mixed" because they have no dominant activity but produce a wide range of crops and livestock products.

In some surveys such as the Census of Agriculture and current statistics of agricultural production, the reporting unit is the farm or the agricultural holding. In other cases such as the Census of Population and the Current Labour Force Survey, the reporting unit is the individual as a member of a household. The combination of household and establishment in agriculture makes the co-ordination of data from these different sources more difficult than in other lines of industry.

Many establishments engage both in agricultural activity and in some other line of business such as forestry or the operation of cabins or a motel. If the units operating these different activities are organized as separate establishments they are, of course, treated separately but in many cases the operator and his family are engaged concurrently in farming activity and the other activity, e.g. summer cabins. Thus, it may not be possible to obtain separate measures of the labour and other inputs associated with the various outputs. Some of these establishments are primarily engaged in a non-agricultural activity and, therefore, they do not form part of the industry division Agriculture. However, if it is desired to obtain data on the total of agricultural production, the agricultural production of these establishments must be included.

The industry division Agriculture includes, therefore, all land holdings primarily engaged in agricultural production. In addition it also includes establishments primarily engaged in providing services to agriculture such as animal husbandry services; horticultural services; contract sorting, grading and packing of farm produce; orchard spraying; fruit picking; harvesting and ploughing.

Special categories have been established for Institutional Farms, Experimental Farms and University Farms because these usually form part of an establishment classified to an industry other than agriculture.

Although the size of the establishment is not normally a criterion for classification by industry, it has been introduced in the Agricultural Division to take account of the particular characteristics of some holdings. Thus a separate major group is provided for Small Agricultural Holdings which includes residential holdings and all those having sales of agricultural products less than $1200 per annum.

The core of the industry division Agriculture consists of "commercial farms" primarily engaged in agricultural production and not included in the above special categories or in "Small Agricultural Holdings". In this sense "commercial farms" are those geared to produce for the market and having marketings of at least $1200 per annum. Commercial farms are classified according to type under such headings as Livestock and Livestock Combination Farms or Field Crop and Field Crop Combination Farms. It should be noted that the term "livestock" in this connection includes cattle, poultry, hogs and sheep. Farms primarily engaged in raising horses, bees, fur-bearing animals, dogs and cats are classified in the group Miscellaneous Specialty Farms.

Ind.
No.

Major Group 1 - Experimental and Institutional Farms

- 001 Experimental and University Farms.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating farms for the purpose of carrying out experiments aimed at improving strains of plants, trees or livestock. Experimental farms are operated by federal or provincial governments and in addition to experiments for improving strains, they often carry on related experimental work on methods of growing, harvesting, preserving and grading agricultural products. University farms carry on many of the same activities as experimental farms and are used also in connection with instruction of students. For purposes of general industrial classification experimental and university farms are not, as a rule, separate establishments and they are, therefore, included with the government department or the institution of which they form a part. The Census of Agriculture treats these farms as separate units, however, so a class is provided for them.

- 003 Institutional Farms.—Farms operated in connection with an institution such as prison farms, farms operated by religious orders and farm lands on Indian reserves. Farms of this type are usually covered in an agricultural census and, therefore, the class is provided so that the census can classify these holdings. For purposes of general industrial classification, however, many institutional farms cannot be classed as separate establishments and, therefore, they are included with the institutions of which they form a part. It should be noted that farms operated by individual Indians on reserves are classed along with other farms in major group 2 or major group 3 according to type as are farms operated by co-operative communities. Community pastures are included in this industry.

Major Group 2 - Small Agricultural Holdings

- 006 Residential and Other Small Holdings.—Agricultural holdings on which the gross revenue from the sale of farm products is less than $1200 per annum.

Major Group 3 - Commercial Farms¹

- 011 Livestock and Livestock Combination Farms.—Farms on which 50% or more of the gross revenue from the sale of farm products is derived from sales of dairy products, poultry and poultry products, cattle, hogs, or sheep, or from a combination of these livestock and livestock products.
- 013 Field Crop and Field Crop Combination Farms.—Farms on which 50% or more of the gross revenue from the sale of farm products is derived from sales of wheat; other cash grains including oil seeds and pulses; field crops such as potatoes, sugar beets, hay, forage crops, seeds, tobacco or any combination of these grains and field crops.

DIVISION 1—AGRICULTURE—Concluded

015 Fruit and Vegetable Farms.—Farms on which 50% or more of the gross revenue from the sale of farm products is derived from sales of tree fruits, small fruits or vegetables except potatoes, or any combination of these.

017 Other Crop and Livestock Combination Farms.—Farms selling a variety of crop and livestock products in that no single product or group of products included in another class in this division accounts for as much as 50% of gross revenue from the sale of farm products. It should be noted that in this and other classes in this division the revenue from a farm woodlot is considered to be part of farm revenue from agricultural products.

019 Miscellaneous Specialty Farms.—Farms on which 50% or more of the gross revenue from the sale of farm products is derived from sales of one of the following specialties: horses; fur-bearing animals and furs; bees, honey and bees' wax; goats and goat milk; maple products; greenhouse and nursery products.

Major Group 4—Services Incidental to Agriculture

021 Services Incidental to Agriculture.—Establishments primarily engaged in providing services to agriculture such as corn shelling, hay baling, and threshing services; contract sorting, grading and packing of farm products for the grower; contract crop dusting, fruit picking, grain cleaning, harvesting and ploughing; animal husbandry services such as veterinary services, poultry hatcheries, feed lot operation, animal breeding and boarding services; horticultural services such as landscape gardening, tree planting.

DIVISION 2—FORESTRY

Major Group 1—Logging

031 Logging.—Establishments primarily engaged in cutting pulpwood logs and lumber logs of all kinds, cordwood, fuelwood, ties, telegraph and telephone poles. Contractors engaged in cutting forest products are included in this industry.

Establishments engaged in logging that do their own hauling or transporting of the logs are included.

Major Group 2—Forestry Services

039 Forestry Services.—Establishments primarily engaged in forestry patrol, fire inspection, forest nurseries, reforestation and other forestry services whether conducted by government departments or other organizations.

DIVISION 3—FISHING AND TRAPPING

Major Group 1—Fishing

041 Fishing.—Establishments primarily engaged in commercial fishing either in the ocean or inland waters. The term "establishment" includes an individual working by himself or only with members of his own family. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in all types of fishing, such as oyster fishing, seal fishing, whaling, gathering seaweed, and catching seaworms for bait.

Major Group 2—Fishery Services

045 Fishery Services.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating fish hatcheries fishery inspection and protection services, whether operated by government departments or not.

Major Group 3—Hunting and Trapping

047 Hunting and Trapping.—Establishments primarily engaged in hunting and trapping wild animals for commercial purposes. The term "establishment" includes an individual working on his own account or with the assistance only of members of his own family. Establishments primarily engaged in providing guides for hunting and fishing expeditions are classified in Industry No. 879—Other Personal Services.

DIVISION 4—MINES (including Milling), QUARRIES AND OIL WELLS

Major Group 1—Metal Mines

051 Placer Gold Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining gold by placer or hydraulic methods. This industry also includes the dressing and beneficiating of the ore and the production of bullion at the site of the mine.

052 Gold Quartz Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating lode mines for gold. This industry also includes the dressing and beneficiating of the ore and the production of bullion at the site of the mine.

053 Copper-Gold-Silver Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining copper-gold-silver ores and in dressing and beneficiating such ores.

DIVISION 4 — MINES (including Milling), QUARRIES AND OIL WELLS — Concluded

054 Nickel-Copper Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining nickel-copper ores and in dressing and beneficiating such ores.

055 Silver-Cobalt Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining silver-cobalt ores and in dressing and beneficiating such ores.

056 Silver-Lead-Zinc Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining silver-lead-zinc ores and in dressing and beneficiating such ores.

057 Uranium Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining uranium or radium ores and in dressing and beneficiating such ores.

058 Iron Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining iron ore and in dressing and beneficiating such ores.

059 Other Metal Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining metal ores not elsewhere classified and in dressing and beneficiating such ores. The following types of mines are included in this industry: chromite, manganese, mercury, molybdenite, tungsten, titanium, cerium, rare earths, columbium, tantalum, antimony, magnesium and beryllium.

Major Group 2 — Mineral Fuels

061 Coal Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining coal, whether anthracite, bituminous or lignite. This industry includes establishments which break, wash, grade or otherwise prepare coal for use as a fuel, whether operated by a coal-mining enterprise or on a contract basis.

063 Petroleum and Gas Wells.—Establishments primarily engaged in the production of petroleum or natural gas from wells. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing coal gas, when not combined with a blast furnace or chemical plant, are classified in Industry No. 369—Other Petroleum and Coal Products Industries; while establishments primarily engaged in distributing manufactured or natural gas to consumers are classified in Industry No. 574—Gas Distribution.

065 Natural Gas Processing Plants.—Establishments primarily engaged in recovery of the naphtha content of natural gas. Products of this industry are pentane and heavier liquids, liquefied petroleum gases such as butane, propane and butane-propane mixtures. In some cases elemental sulphur is recovered as well.

066 Oil Shale and Bituminous Sand Pits.—Establishments primarily engaged in the production of petroleum from surface shales or sands.

Major Group 3 — Non-Metal Mines Except Coal Mines

071 Asbestos Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining and milling asbestos fibre.

073 Gypsum Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining gypsum. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing gypsum products which also mine gypsum, are classified in Industry No. 345—Gypsum Products Manufacturers.

077 Salt Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in the mining of rock salt or in the recovery of salt from brine wells and in refining salt. This industry includes establishments engaged in all of the processes of salt production.

079 Other Non-Metal Mines.—Establishments primarily engaged in mining and milling non-metallic minerals not elsewhere classified. This industry includes mines such as the following: barite, fluorspar, feldspar (including quartz and silica); graphite, grindstone (natural abrasives); iron oxide, ochre, magnesium sulphate, talc, pyrophyllite, soapstone, peat moss, sodium sulphate, diatomite, sodium carbonate, garnet, lithia, mica, magnesitic dolomite, brucite, nepheline syenite, perlite, potash.

Major Group 4 — Quarries and Sand Pits

083 Stone Quarries.—Establishments primarily engaged in quarrying and crushing igneous rocks such as granite or sedimentary rocks such as limestone, marble, shale, slate and sandstone. Establishments primarily engaged in cutting, shaping or finishing stone are included in Industry No. 353—Stone Products Manufacturers.

087 Sand Pits or Quarries.—Establishments primarily engaged in the extraction, crushing and screening of sand and gravel from pits or quarries.

Major Group 5 — Services Incidental to Mining

092 Petroleum Prospecting.—Establishments and individuals primarily engaged in prospecting (including geophysical surveys) for petroleum or natural gas.

094 Other Prospecting.—Establishments and individuals primarily engaged in prospecting for metals, coal or other non-metallic minerals except petroleum and natural gas. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in geophysical surveys of areas thought to contain minerals, except geophysical surveys for petroleum or natural gas.

096 Contract Drilling for Petroleum.—Establishments primarily engaged in contract drilling of wells for petroleum or gas. This industry includes contractors that specialize in "spudding in" or "drilling in" and in building, repairing and dismantling rigs and derricks.

098 Other Contract Drilling.—Establishments primarily engaged in contract diamond drilling.

099 Other Services Incidental to Mining.—Establishments primarily engaged in providing services necessary to the operation of petroleum and gas fields, such as running, cutting and pulling casings, tubes and rods; cementing wells; shooting wells; perforating well casings; acidizing and chemically treating wells; cleaning out, bailing, and swabbing wells; and drilling water intake wells. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in providing services incidental to the operation of metal and non-metal mining, such as mine exploration and development work including the removal of overburden and the sinking of shafts.

DIVISION 5 — MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES

Major Group 1 — Food and Beverage Industries

Meat Products Industries

- 101 Slaughtering and Meat Processors.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating abattoirs, meat packing plants, or in manufacturing prepared meats and meat specialties from purchased carcasses. Important products of establishments classified in this industry are fresh meats, cured and smoked meats, fresh and cured sausages, canned meats, and animal oils and fats. Establishments primarily engaged in making synthetic sausage casings are included in Industry No. 385—Plastic Fabricators, n.e.s. Establishments primarily engaged in poultry dressing, packing and canning are included in Industry No. 103—Poultry Processors. Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in meat and meat products are included in Industry No. 614—Wholesalers of Food.

- 103 Poultry Processors.—Establishments primarily engaged in killing, dressing, packing or canning poultry.

Dairy Products Industries

- 105 Dairy Factories.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing natural cheese of all kinds; creamery butter; both butter and cheese; condensed, canned or powdered milk; ice cream, frozen desserts such as sherbets and ices, and ice cream mix; pasteurized and bottled fresh milk. Establishments that pasteurize and bottle milk are included in this industry whether or not they sell the milk at retail. Establishments primarily engaged in buying bottled milk for resale to consumers are classified in Industry No. 631—Food Stores while those buying milk primarily for resale to processors are classified in Industry No. 614—Wholesalers of Food.

- 107 Process Cheese Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing process cheese, cheese pastes and spreads. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing natural cheese are classified in Industry No. 105—Dairy Factories.

Fish Products Industry

- 111 Fish Products Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in canning, filleting, freezing and curing fish, molluscs or crustaceans or producing fish meal or oil or marine animal oil. Establishments primarily engaged in processing marine vegetable products are included. Establishments primarily engaged in buying and selling fresh fish, molluscs or crustaceans, although they may do some cleaning and packing of these products, are classified in either Industry No. 614—Wholesalers of Food, or Industry No. 631—Food Stores depending upon whether their sales are mainly at wholesale or retail.

Fruit and Vegetable Canners and Preservers

- 112 Fruit and Vegetable Canners and Preservers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing canned and dried fruits and vegetables, fruit and vegetable juices, soups, preserves, jams and jellies, pickles, cider and sauces. Included also are establishments primarily engaged in quick-freezing of fruits and vegetables and processing in SO₂.

Grain Mills

- 123 Feed Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in the production of poultry, turkey, hog, cattle, fur-bearing animal, dog and cat feeds. The feeds contain ground or rolled grains, mill feeds, animal and vegetable proteins, minerals, essential vitamins and antibiotics. Local mixing and custom grinding of grains (feed mills) are included in this industry.

- 124 Flour Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in milling flour from grain.

- 125 Breakfast Cereal Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing prepared breakfast foods such as: corn, wheat, and bran flakes; rolled oats; and other cereals either pre-cooked or to be cooked.

Bakery Products Industries

- 128 Biscuit Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing biscuits, crackers, pretzels and similar "dry" bakery products including ice cream cones.

- 129 Bakeries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing bread, cakes, pastries and similar "perishable" bakery products.

Other Food Processors

- 131 Confectionery Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing candies, chocolates, cocoa products, chewing gum and other confectionery such as salted nuts and popcorn.

- 133 Sugar Refineries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing cane sugar, beet sugar, sugar syrups, molasses and beet-pulp.

- 135 Vegetable Oil Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing vegetable oils and their by-products, such as linseed, soybean and cocoanut oil, oilcake meal and linseed meal.

- 139 Miscellaneous Food Industries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing baking powder, flavouring extracts and syrups, malt, milled rice, self-rising and blended flours, macaroni and spaghetti, starch and its products, jelly powders, yeast, prepared cocoanut, powdered eggs, frozen eggs, "health foods", peanut butter and other food specialties not elsewhere classified. Establishments primarily engaged in roasting coffee, blending tea or grinding and packaging spices are classified in this industry, but coffee roasting, tea blending and spice grinding done by establishments primarily engaged in wholesale trade is classified in Industry No. 614—Wholesalers of Food.

Beverage Manufacturers

- 141 Soft Drink Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing non-alcoholic beverages and carbonated mineral waters or concentrates and syrups for the manufacture of carbonated beverages. Establishments primarily engaged in bottling natural spring waters are classified in Industry No. 614—Wholesalers of Food.

- 143 Distilleries.—Establishments primarily engaged in producing alcoholic beverages such as whisky, brandy, rum and gin. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing ethyl alcohol whether or not the alcohol is ultimately used to make potable spirits. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing other alcohols such as methyl, butyl or isopropyl are classified in Industry No. 378—Manufacturers of Industrial Chemicals.

- 145 Breweries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing ale, beer, porter, stout and other malt liquors.

- 147 Wineries.—Establishments primarily engaged in producing wines.

Major Group 2—Tobacco Products Industries

- 151 Leaf Tobacco Processing.—Establishments primarily engaged in final grading, re-drying and packing tobacco leaf in hogsheads. These establishments customarily store the dried tobacco in the hogsheads for a period of time which may be several years, i.e. aging the tobacco. In most cases the hogsheads of tobacco are shipped direct to the tobacco products factory (see Industry No. 153) while in other cases the tobacco is removed from the hogsheads, stemmed and made ready for further manufacture before being sent to the tobacco products factory.
- 153 Tobacco Products Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing cigarettes, cigars, tobacco and snuff.

Major Group 3—Rubber Industries

- 161 Rubber Footwear Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing all-rubber footwear having fabric uppers and rubber soles. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing leather footwear and footwear of other materials except rubber are classified in Industry No. 174—Shoe Factories.
- 163 Tire and Tube Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing rubber tires and tubes for automobiles, trucks, aircraft, tractors, and other machinery and implements.
- 169 Other Rubber Industries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing rubber goods, such as rubberized fabrics, mechanical rubber goods, rubber flooring and rubber sundries. Establishments primarily engaged in producing synthetic rubber are classified in Industry No. 378—Manufacturers of Industrial Chemicals. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing rubberized clothing are classified in Industry No. 249—Other Clothing Industries.

Major Group 4—Leather Industries

- 172 Leather Tanneries.—Establishments primarily engaged in tanning, currying and finishing leather of all types, such as sole and belt leather; bookbinders' leather; glove, harness, bag, strap and upholstery leather.
- 174 Shoe Factories.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing boots, shoes, slippers, mocassins and similar footwear by cutting and sewing material. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing rubber footwear, i.e. footwear having a molded rubber or plastic sole which is not sewn on, are included in Industry No. 161—Rubber Footwear Manufacturers.
- 175 Leather Glove Factories.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing gloves and mittens of leather. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing knit gloves and mittens are classified in Industry No. 239—Other Knitting Mills.
- 179 Luggage, Handbag and Small Leather Goods Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing leather products and similar articles not elsewhere classified, such as luggage, handbags, "small leather goods", boot and shoe cut stock and findings of leather or of other materials. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing harness or saddlery, and leather belting are included.

Major Group 5—Textile Industries

Cotton Yarn and Cloth Mills

- 183 Cotton Yarn and Cloth Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in spinning, twisting, winding or spooling cotton yarn and in weaving fabrics wholly or mainly of cotton such as duck, sheetings, prints, towellings, bedspread fabrics, table damask, drapery and upholstery fabrics.

Woollen Mills

- 193 Wool Yarn Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in spinning and winding woollen yarn for sale as such.
- 197 Wool Cloth Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in weaving woollen and worsted fabrics such as suitings, coatings, dress goods and flannel; blankets and blanketings; and other woollen fabrics. Included in this industry are establishments primarily engaged in weaving paper-makers' felt of all materials. Mills whose chief products are knitted goods are classified in Industry No. 239—Other Knitting Mills.

Synthetic Textile Mills

- 201 Synthetic Textile Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing yarns, threads and broad woven goods of synthetic textile fibres, including glass fibres. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing yarns, threads and broad woven goods of natural silk. It also includes establishments engaged in extrusion of synthetic textile filaments. Establishments primarily engaged in producing the basic synthetic material in such forms as liquids, chips, powders, flakes are classified in Industry No. 373—Manufacturers of Plastics and Synthetic Resins.

Other Primary Textile Mills

- 211 Fibre Preparing Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in preparing fibres for spinning (except synthetic fibres) and in manufacturing batting, padding, wadding, upholstery filling or in processing waste and recovered fibres and flock. Included are establishments primarily engaged in wool scouring and carbonizing and combing and converting top.
- 212 Thread Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in spinning, twisting and manufacturing sewing thread or crochet, darning, hand-knitting and embroidery threads for sale as such.
- 213 Cordage and Twine Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing rope, cable, cordage, net, twine, and related goods from hemp, jute, cotton, paper, flax and other fibres.
- 214 Narrow Fabric Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing narrow fabrics, such as woven tapes, ribbons and bindings, elastic cord, lacing, elastic and non-elastic webbing.
- 215 Pressed and Punched Felt Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing pressed felt of any fibre by means of heating, moisture and pressure; and those making punched felt for rugs, cushions and other products from hair, jute, wool or other fibres by the needle loom process. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing woven felts are classified in the appropriate cloth industry.

216 Carpet, Mat and Rug Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing carpets and rugs of wool, cotton, or synthetic materials; jute and cocoa fibre mats and matting; and rag carpets and rugs. The manufacture of rubber mats is classified in Industry No. 169—Other Rubber Industries.

218 Textile Dyeing and Finishing Plants.—Establishments primarily engaged in custom dyeing and finishing of woollen and worsted goods, cotton and linen goods, silk and synthetic goods. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in cloth sponging and miscellaneous special finishing of textiles on a custom basis.

219 Linoleum and Coated Fabrics Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing oilcloth, linoleum, other hard surface floor coverings, leatherette and other coated fabrics including water repellent fabrics except rubberized. The manufacture of rubberized fabrics is classified in Industry No. 169—Other Rubber Industries.

Other Textile Industries

221 Canvas Products Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing awnings, tents, sails, tarpaulins, canopies and bags made from canvas fabric.

223 Cotton and Jute Bag Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing bags made from cotton, jute, burlap and other textile fabrics except canvas.

229 Miscellaneous Textile Industries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing house furnishings such as curtains, draperies and bedspreads; linen and jute fabrics; trimmings and Schiffli machine embroideries; automobile upholstery materials and body linings; bandages; gauze; muff beds, sanitary napkins; surgical dressings; and other textile products not elsewhere classified.

Major Group 6 - Knitting Mills

231 Hosiery Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in knitting, dyeing or finishing full-fashioned or seamless hosiery. Establishments primarily engaged in dyeing or finishing textile products on a custom basis are included in Industry No. 218—Textile Dyeing and Finishing Plants.

239 Other Knitting Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing knit outerwear, underwear, gloves and other knit articles except hosiery.

Major Group 7 - Clothing Industries

242 Custom Tailoring Shops.—Establishments primarily engaged in custom tailoring, including tailors working alone without paid employees. Dressmaking shops including dressmakers who work at home or in the homes of their employers are classified in Industry No. 878—Dressmaking, or Industry No. 879—Other Personal Service.

243 Men's Clothing Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing suits, coats, trousers, overcoats, shirts, underwear, work clothing, sheep-lined coats, sportswear and men's furnishings and leather clothing. Both "regular" factories and "contract" factories making men's clothing are classified in this industry.

244 Women's Clothing Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing suits, coats, dresses, skirts, blouses, household apparel, sportswear, underwear, lingerie and neckwear. Both "regular" factories and "contract" factories making women's clothing are classified in this industry, and the industry includes establishments primarily engaged in embroidering, hemstitching and pleating for the trade.

245 Children's Clothing Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing children's and infants' dresses, coats, snow suits and other outerwear.

246 Fur Goods Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing fur coats, other fur garments, accessories and trimmings. Establishments primarily engaged in fur dressing and dyeing are included in Industry No. 395—Fur Dressing and Dyeing. Establishments primarily engaged in selling purchased fur goods at retail but which also make up fur coats and other fur goods are classified in Industry No. 667—Women's Ready-to-Wear Stores.

247 Hat and Cap Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing hats of straw, cloth, fur felt and wool felt; hat and cap materials and millinery. Millinery shops primarily engaged in selling purchased hats but which make up some hats are classified in Industry No. 667—Women's Ready-to-Wear Stores.

248 Foundation Garment Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing corsets, girdles, brassieres and other foundation garments.

249 Other Clothing Industries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing fabric gloves, academic vests and gowns, theatrical costumes, and other items of apparel not elsewhere classified. Included are establishments that purchase made-up garments which they treat with a waterproofing compound. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing garments by cutting and sewing water-resistant materials of any kind are classified in the appropriate clothing industry (i.e. Children's Clothing Industry, Men's Clothing Industry, or Women's Clothing Industry as the case may be) and those primarily engaged in manufacturing men's leather clothing are classified in Industry No. 243—Men's Clothing Industry.

Major Group 8 - Wood Industries

251 Sawmills.—Establishments primarily engaged in sawing rough lumber, spool wood, lath and other mill products such as shingles, cooperage stock and box shooks from round wood. Mills that dress rough lumber on the sawmill premises are included in this industry. Pulpwood barking mills are included in Industry No. 271—Pulp and Paper Mills.

252 Veneer and Plywood Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in producing plywood or veneer.

254 Sash and Door and Planing Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing mill products such as dressed lumber, sash, doors, window and door frames, interior woodwork, moulding and hardwood flooring. Included are establishments primarily engaged in dressing purchased lumber and in custom dressing. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing pre-cut or pre-fabricated wooden buildings or panels for buildings or in manufacturing laminated rafters, roof trusses and beams. Establishments primarily engaged in the production of plywood or veneer are classified in Industry No. 252—Veneer and Plywood Mills.

256 Wooden Box Factories.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing wooden boxes, crates, fruit and vegetable baskets. This industry includes establishments making box shooks from sawn lumber.

258 Coffin and Casket Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in the manufacture of coffins, caskets and other morticians' supplies.

259 Miscellaneous Wood Industries.—Establishments primarily engaged in wood preservation; in wood turning and in manufacturing wood products not elsewhere classified. Principal products are beekeepers' and poultrymen's supplies, excelsior, woodenware (clothes pins, washboards, stepladders, pails and tubs) sanitary woodwork and particle board. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing cooperage such as barrels, casks, kegs, and other containers made of staves are included in this industry. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing cooperage stock, but not cooperage, are classified in Industry No. 251—Sawmills.

Major Group 9—Furniture and Fixture Industries

261 Household Furniture Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing household furniture of all kinds and of all materials. This industry also includes upholstery, cabinet making and furniture repairing shops.

264 Office Furniture Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing office furniture such as desks, chairs, tables, filing cabinets of all kinds and of all materials.

266 Other Furniture Industries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing store furniture and fixtures, public building and professional furniture and fixtures of all kinds and of all materials. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing mattresses and springs. Manufacturers of stone furniture are classified in Industry No. 353—Stone Products Manufacturers.

268 Electric Lamp and Shade Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing electric table and floor lamps and shades of all types and of all materials. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing electric fixtures are included in Industry No. 339—Manufacturers of Miscellaneous Electrical Products.

Major Group 10—Paper and Allied Industries

271 Pulp and Paper Mills.—This industry includes pulp mills producing chemical or mechanical woodpulp; and combined pulp and paper mills and paper mills manufacturing newsprint, book and writing papers, Kraft paper, paperboard or building and insulation board. Barking mills engaged in producing barked or rossed pulpwood are included in this industry. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing converted paper and paperboard products are classified in Industry No. 273—Paper Box and Bag Manufacturers, or Industry No. 274—Other Paper Converters.

272 Asphalt Roofing Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing asphalt saturated shingles and sidings, roofing felts and sheathings, smooth-surfaced and mineral-surfaced roll roofings.

273 Paper Box and Bag Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing shipping boxes or cases made of corrugated or solid fibreboard; folding or set-up paper or paperboard boxes; paper bags; fibre cans; decorated and fancy covered paperboard boxes; and paper and paperboard containers not elsewhere classified. Many establishments included in this industry produce bags and other containers of synthetic materials and of metal foil.

274 Other Paper Converters.—Establishments primarily engaged in coating, treating, cutting and otherwise converting paper and paperboard. Many of these establishments also use synthetic materials and metal foil to produce articles similar to those manufactured of paper and paperboard. Important products of establishments classified in this industry are waxed paper, crepe paper, paper napkins, envelopes and stationery, gummed paper, wallpaper, paper plates and cups, mailing tubes.

Major Group 11—Printing, Publishing and Allied Industries

286 Commercial Printing.—Establishments primarily engaged in commercial or job printing including lithographing, blankbook making and bookbinding. This industry includes general printing shops as well as shops specializing in printing newspapers and periodicals for others. Silk screen printers are included.

287 Engraving, Stereotyping and Allied Industries.—Establishments primarily engaged in engraving, photoengraving, electrotyping, stereotyping, machine and hand typesetting for the printing trades and the preparation of lithoplates. This industry includes the printing of stock and bond certificates, bank notes, postage and revenue stamps. Establishments primarily engaged in providing blueprinting and duplicating services are classified in Industry No. 869—Other Services to Business Management. Establishments primarily engaged in engraving jewellery are classified in Industry No. 695—Watch and Jewellery Repair Shops, and those primarily engaged in engraving on base metals for purposes other than printing are classified in Industry 309—Miscellaneous Metal Fabricating Industries.

288 Publishing Only.—Establishments primarily engaged in publishing only and which do no printing or are not engaged in some other principal activity. This industry does not include publishers of house organs or similar publications which are subsidiary to the main activity of an establishment. The term "publishing" as applied in this industry includes publishing of books, newspapers, periodicals, almanacs, maps, guides, calendars and similar products.

289 Printing and Publishing.—Establishments primarily engaged in publishing and printing newspapers, magazines, periodicals, books, almanacs, maps, guides, and the like. Establishments specializing in printing newspapers, magazines and books for publishers are classified in Industry No. 286—Commercial Printing. Establishments which publish only and do no printing are included in Industry No. 288—Publishing Only.

Major Group 12—Primary Metal Industries

291 Iron and Steel Mills.—Four main types of establishments are classified in this industry: (1) Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing pig iron and ferroalloys. (2) Steel works primarily engaged in manufacturing ingots, steel castings and in continuous casting of steel. (3) Rolling mills primarily engaged in hot and cold rolling of steel into primary shapes. (4) Coke ovens operated in connection with blast furnaces. In some cases the blast furnace, steel mill, rolling mill and coke oven or some combination of two or more of them are carried on as one integrated operation and the manufacturing processes may be carried on beyond the rolling mill stage.

292 Steel Pipe and Tube Mills.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing welded and seamless steel pipe and tubing. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing rivetted pipe are classified in Industry No. 309—Miscellaneous Metal Fabricating Industries and those primarily engaged in manufacturing cast iron pipe are included in Industry No. 294—Iron Foundries.

294 Iron Foundries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing iron castings, including cast iron pipe and fittings.

295 Smelting and Refining.—Establishments primarily engaged in the smelting of ores bearing non-ferrous metals and/or the refining of non-ferrous metals. In cases of establishments which conduct smelting or refining operations at the site of the mine, separate reports should be secured, if possible, for the mining and for the smelting or refining operations (except for gold mining). In the case of gold mines, production of bullion at the site of the mine is included with the mining operations in Industry No. 051—Placer Gold Mines or Industry No. 052—Gold Quartz Mines.

296 Aluminum Rolling, Casting and Extruding.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing aluminum shapes such as bars, rods, plates, sheets and castings. Pressure die casting of aluminum is included in Industry No. 298—Metal Rolling, Casting and Extruding, n.e.s., and the extraction of aluminum from the ore is classified in Industry No. 295—Smelting and Refining.

297 Copper and Alloy Rolling, Casting and Extruding.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing copper and copper alloy shapes such as bars, rods, plates, sheets and castings. Pressure die casting of copper alloys is included in Industry No. 298—Metal Rolling, Casting and Extruding, n.e.s., and the extraction of copper from the ore is classified in Industry No. 295—Smelting and Refining.

298 Metal Rolling, Casting and Extruding, n.e.s.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing non-ferrous metals such as zinc, tin, lead, nickel and titanium and their alloys in shapes such as bars, rods, plates, sheets and castings. In addition, this industry includes establishments primarily engaged in pressure die casting of all non-ferrous metals and their alloys and those engaged in the recovery of non-ferrous metals from scrap.

Major Group 13—Metal Fabricating Industries (except Machinery and Transportation Equipment Industries)

301 Boiler and Plate Works.—Establishments primarily engaged in the manufacture of heating and power boilers except cast iron sectional heating boilers, storage tanks, pressure tanks, smoke-stacks, plate work and similar boiler-shop products. Some establishments in this industry engage both in the fabrication of the product and its installation. In these cases the establishment is classified on the basis of its principal activity, i.e. either fabricating or installing the product. Establishments installing mainly products of their own manufacture are considered as primarily engaged in fabrication, and are included in this industry, but those primarily engaged in erecting boilers or smoke-stacks from purchased parts are included in Industry No. 409—Other Construction. Establishments primarily engaged in fabricating and erecting large storage tanks which must be assembled at the site are included in Industry No. 302—Fabricated Structural Metal Industry.

302 Fabricated Structural Metal Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in fabrication of heavy steel parts and similar parts of other metals and alloys for structural purposes. Products of this industry include fabricated shapes for bridges, buildings, large tanks and similar structures. Establishments in this industry may erect buildings, bridges and large tanks as well as fabricate the metal parts but they are primarily engaged in fabrication. Establishments primarily engaged in the erection of buildings, bridges and large tanks from purchased metal parts are included in Industry No. 421—Special-Trade Contractors.

303 Ornamental and Architectural Metal Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing ornamental metal work, stairs and staircases, fire escapes, grilles, railings, metal sash, doors and frames and metal partitions. Establishments included in this industry may install the products of their own manufacture but they are primarily engaged in fabrication. Establishments primarily engaged in the erection or installation of purchased fabricated metal products are included in Industry No. 421—Special-Trade Contractors.

304 Metal Stamping, Pressing and Coating Industry.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing sheet metal products such as metal stampings for automobiles and for purposes such as bottle caps, heel caps, metal lath and metal boxes. Also included are establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing pressed metal products such as kitchen utensils, hospital and similar utensils and containers. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in coating metal and metal products, such as vitreous enamelware, galvanizing and electro-plating except plating with precious metals (Industry 382). It also includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing tin cans and other tinware, and sheet metal products such as metalawnings, heating ducts, roofing and eaves trough. Establishments primarily engaged in tinsmithing and sheet metal work on construction projects are classified in Industry No. 421—Special-Trade Contractors. Establishments primarily engaged in making enamelled bathroom fixtures such as bath tubs and basins are included in Industry No. 309—Miscellaneous Metal Fabricating Industries.

305 Wire and Wire Products Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in drawing wire from rods and in manufacturing nails, spikes, staples, bolts, nuts, rivets, screws, washers, wire fencing, screening, wire cloth, barbed wire, tire chains, uninsulated wire rope and cable, kitchen wire goods and other wire products. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing insulated wire and cable are included in Industry No. 338—Manufacturers of Electric Wire and Cable.

306 Hardware, Tool and Cutlery Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing edge and hand tools, cutlery and hardware. Important products of this industry are axes; chisels; dies and other metal-working tools; hammers, shovels, hoes, rakes, files, saws, builders' hardware, marine hardware, non-electric razors and blades, table and kitchen cutlery and a miscellaneous group of products usually known under the term "hardware" and not elsewhere classified. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing bits, drills and other cutting tools for machines or for power-driven hand tools. Establishments primarily engaged in the manufacture of sterling silver or silver-plated cutlery are classified in Industry No. 382—Jewellery and Silverware Manufacturers, those primarily engaged in the manufacture of machine tools or of power-driven hand tools in Industry No. 315—Miscellaneous Machinery and Equipment Manufacturers, and those primarily engaged in manufacturing machinists' precision tools in Industry No. 381—Scientific and Professional Equipment Manufacturers.

307 Heating Equipment Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing commercial cooking equipment and major heating apparatus such as furnaces, oil burners, gas burners, steam and hot water heating apparatus and heating equipment, not elsewhere classified. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing cast iron sectional heating boilers and convection or cast iron radiators are included in this industry. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing domestic cooking equipment, electric and non-electric, are classified in Industry No. 332—Manufacturers of Major Appliances.

308 Machine Shops.— Machine shops primarily engaged in producing machine parts and equipment, other than complete machines, for the trade. This industry includes machine shops providing custom and repair services.

309 Miscellaneous Metal Fabricating Industries.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing metal products not elsewhere classified, such as weather stripping, guns, collapsible tubes, machinery fittings, plumber's goods (including enamelled plumbing fixtures), safes and vaults, and forgings such as chains, (except tire chains, see Industry No. 305—Wire and Wire Products Manufacturers), anchors and axles. Also included are establishments primarily engaged in fabricating bars and rods for reinforcing concrete.

Major Group 14—Machinery Industries (except Electrical Machinery)

311 Agricultural Implement Industry.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing agricultural implements such as plows, threshing machines, binders, fertilizing machinery, milking machines, and mowing machines. The industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing tractors. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing truck tractors for highway use are classified in Industry No. 323—Motor Vehicle Manufacturers. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing industrial tractors for handling materials in industrial plants, depots and docks are classified in Industry No. 315—Miscellaneous Machinery and Equipment Manufacturers. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing hand tools, such as hoes, rakes, and shovels are classified in Industry No. 306—Hardware, Tool and Cutlery Manufacturers.

315 Miscellaneous Machinery and Equipment Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing machinery and equipment designed particularly for use in construction and mining operations including earth moving machinery and equipment, and earth and rock boring and drilling equipment; establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing other special-industry machinery except agricultural machinery, including such products as textile machinery, pulp and paper machinery, printing machinery, and food-processing machinery; establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing machinery and equipment not designed for use in any particular industry or classified elsewhere, including such products as marine engines, general-purpose engines, pumping equipment, equipment for the transmission of mechanical power, conveyor systems, elevators and lifting and hoisting machinery. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing industrial tractors for handling materials in industrial plants, depots and docks are included here. Included also are establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing woodworking machinery and in manufacturing machine tools which are power-driven machines employing a cutting tool for work on metal. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing bits, drills and other cutting tools for machines or for power-driven hand tools are included in Industry No. 306—Hardware, Tool and Cutlery Manufacturers.

316 Commercial Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Equipment Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing electric and non-electric commercial refrigerating equipment such as display cases, counters, and frozen food storage cabinets; and refrigeration units for installation in custom or built-in refrigeration facilities. The industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing self-contained air conditioning units (except window type) and air conditioning equipment for installation in custom and built-in air conditioning systems.

318 Office and Store Machinery Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing office and store machinery such as typewriters, cash registers, coin-operated vending machines, mechanical computing machines, and scales and balances. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing electronic computers, data processors and control devices, are included in Industry No. 339—Manufacturers of Miscellaneous Electrical Products.

Major Group 15—Transportation Equipment Industries

321 Aircraft and Parts Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing aeroplanes, gliders, balloons and aircraft parts, such as engines, propellers and pontoons. Aircraft repair is included in this industry. The manufacture of aeronautical instruments is classified in Industry No. 381—Scientific and Professional Equipment Manufacturers.

323 Motor Vehicle Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing or assembling complete motor vehicles such as passenger automobiles, commercial cars and buses, trucks, and special purpose motor vehicles such as ambulances and taxicabs.

324 Truck Body and Trailer Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing truck and bus bodies but not manufacturing complete trucks or buses. Included are establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing truck trailers and tractor-type bus trailers, as well as those primarily engaged in manufacturing trailers for attachment to passenger cars.

325 Motor Vehicle Parts and Accessories Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing motor vehicle parts (except truck and bus bodies) and accessories for use on motor vehicles, such as engines, brakes, clutches, axles, gears, transmissions, wheels, frames, radiators, springs, automobile hardware, heaters, horns, and mirrors. The manufacture of tires and tubes is classified in Industry No. 163—Tire and Tube Manufacturers; automobile glass in Industry No. 356—Glass and Glass Products Manufacturers; and batteries in Industry No. 337—Battery Manufacturers.

326 Railroad Rolling Stock Industry.— Establishments primarily engaged in building and rebuilding locomotives of any type or gauge and railroad cars (including frames and parts) for freight and passenger service. This industry includes establishments of railway companies primarily engaged in manufacturing or repairing locomotives and cars.

327 Shipbuilding and Repair.— Establishments primarily engaged in building and repairing all types of ships of more than 5 tons displacement.

328 Boatbuilding and Repair.— Establishments primarily engaged in building and repairing all types of boats. This industry, for the most part, handles the smaller type of craft, such as motorboats, sailboats, rowboats, lifeboats and canoes.

- 329 Miscellaneous Vehicle Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing transportation equipment not elsewhere classified, such as animal-drawn vehicles including sleighs, as well as parts for any vehicles included.

Major Group 16 — Electrical Products Industries

- 331 Manufacturers of Small Electrical Appliances.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing small electrical appliances such as vacuum cleaners, fans, toasters, irons and water heaters. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing household refrigerators and farm and home freezers; domestic cooking and heating stoves; domestic laundry equipment; and sewing machines are classified in Industry No. 332—Manufacturers of Major Appliances (electric and non-electric).
- 332 Manufacturers of Major Appliances (electric and non-electric).— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing household type appliances and machines such as stoves; refrigerators, home and farm freezers; window type air conditioning units; laundry equipment and sewing machines. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing small household electric appliances are classified in Industry No. 331—Manufacturers of Small Electrical Appliances.
- 334 Manufacturers of Household Radio and Television Receivers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing radio and television receiving sets. The industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing record playing, tape playing and recording equipment and parts.
- 335 Communications Equipment Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing radio and television transmitters, radar equipment, closed circuit television equipment, and electronic navigational aids; public address apparatus, and the related parts and equipment. Included are establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing telephone and telegraph equipment and parts. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing electronic control panels and similar devices.
- 336 Manufacturers of Electrical Industrial Equipment.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing electric motors, generators and other electric power equipment for use in the generation, transmission and utilization of electric energy. Important products of this industry are steam turbine generator sets, motors (except railway, motor vehicle and aircraft), generators, transformers, switchgear, pole-line hardware, lightning arresters, electric welding equipment, electric meters. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing electric wire and cable are in Industry No. 338—Manufacturers of Electric Wire and Cable.
- 337 Battery Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing storage and primary batteries including wet and dry batteries.
- 338 Manufacturers of Electric Wire and Cable.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing electric wire and cable both insulated or armoured and non-insulated. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing non-electric wire and wire products are included in Industry No. 305—Wire and Wire Products Manufacturers.
- 339 Manufacturers of Miscellaneous Electrical Products.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing electrical products not elsewhere classified, such as electric signalling apparatus; electric lighting fixtures; electric light bulbs and tubes (light sources) of all kinds such as incandescent filament lamps, vapor and fluorescent lamps, photoflash and photoflood lamps; wiring devices; panelboards (distribution, lighting and residential types); low voltage switchboards; carbon or graphite electrodes; conduit and fittings. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing electronic computers and data processors.

Major Group 17 — Non-Metallic Mineral Products Industries

- 341 Cement Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing hydraulic cement, including Portland, natural masonry and puzzolan cements.
- 343 Lime Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing quicklime, hydrated lime and dead-burned dolomite.
- 345 Gypsum Products Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing plaster, plaster board and other products composed wholly or chiefly of gypsum.
- 347 Concrete Products Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing concrete products such as building blocks, brick, sewer pipe, tanks, poles, septic tanks. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing sand-lime brick and blocks are included. Contractors engaged in concrete construction work are classified in Division 6—Construction and establishments primarily engaged in mixing and delivering ready-mix concrete are classified in Industry No. 348—Ready-Mix Concrete Manufacturers.
- 348 Ready-Mix Concrete Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in mixing and delivering ready-mix concrete.
- 351 Clay Products Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing clay brick; roofing, floor and wall tile; sewer pipe; and other structural clay products. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing clay products such as pottery, chinaware, and porcelain insulators are also included. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing clay refractories are included in Industry No. 352—Refractories Manufacturers.
- 352 Refractories Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing fire brick, crucibles and other heat resisting clay products such as glass-house tank blocks, stoppers, floaters, and rings. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing non-clay refractories and crucibles.
- 353 Stone Products Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in cutting, shaping and finishing stone for building and other purposes. Important products of this industry include monuments and tombstones, dimension stone for buildings, slate blackboards and stone furniture. Establishments that quarry stone and do some shaping and finishing are classified in Industry No. 083—Stone Quarries. Establishments primarily engaged in buying and selling monuments and tombstones, even though they do some lettering and finishing, are classified in either Industry No. 629—Wholesalers, n.e.s. or Industry No. 699—Retail Stores, n.e.s.
- 354 Mineral Wool Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing mineral wool from materials such as limestone, slag and glass.
- 355 Asbestos Products Manufacturers.— Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing asbestos textiles, packings, brake linings, gaskets, asbestos building materials and other commodities composed wholly or chiefly of asbestos.

356 Glass and Glass Products Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing flat glass; plate glass; glass containers; glassware; ovenware; glass brick; fibrous glass products except textile fabrics; mirrors; stained, leaded and ornamented glass; glass novelties and other articles made from glass. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in etching or painting glass or glassware. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing optical lenses and ophthalmic lenses are classified in Industry No. 381—Scientific and Professional Equipment Manufacturers. Establishments primarily engaged in spinning glass yarns or weaving glass fabrics are classified in Industry No. 201—Synthetic Textile Mills.

357 Abrasives Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing abrasive grinding wheels of emery, carborundum and other natural or artificial materials; abrasive sticks, stones, bricks, paper and cloths and buffing and polishing wheels. This industry includes the manufacture of primary abrasive materials such as fused alumina and silicon carbide.

359 Other Non-Metallic Mineral Products Industries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing miscellaneous non-metallic mineral products not elsewhere classified, such as mica products; expanded vermiculite; expanded pellite; roofing granules. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing petroleum and coal products are classified in Major Group 18—Petroleum and Coal Products Industries.

Major Group 18—Petroleum and Coal Products Industries

365 Petroleum Refineries.—Establishments primarily engaged in refining crude petroleum and in producing gasoline, fuel oils, lubricating oils, illuminating oils and other petroleum products. The industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in blending lubricating oils and greases which they have purchased.

369 Other Petroleum and Coal Products Industries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing petroleum and coal products not elsewhere classified, such as fuel briquettes, road emulsions and roofing compounds. This industry also includes coking plants operated as separate establishments and not as a subsidiary activity in Iron and Steel or Chemical Plants.

Major Group 19—Chemical and Chemical Products Industries

371 Explosives and Ammunition Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing explosives; ammunitions including mines, bombs and depth charges; safety and detonating fuses; fireworks of all kinds; flares and railroad fuses.

372 Manufacturers of Mixed Fertilizers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing superphosphates and mixed fertilizers. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing chemicals which, in addition to their use as fertilizer materials also have other important industrial uses, e.g. ammonium nitrate, are classified in Industry No. 378—Manufacturers of Industrial Chemicals.

373 Manufacturers of Plastics and Synthetic Resins.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing synthetic resins in such forms as powders, granules, flakes, liquids or simple sheets. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing transparent cellulose film or film from synthetic resin. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing chemicals for use in making synthetic fibres are classified in Industry No. 378—Manufacturers of Industrial Chemicals, while those manufacturing synthetic textile fibres, even though they also make the component chemicals, are classified in Industry No. 201—Synthetic Textile Mills.

374 Manufacturers of Pharmaceuticals and Medicines.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing drugs and medicines. This industry includes manufacturers of patent and proprietary medicines; veterinary medicines; vitamin products; cod liver oil; and biological products, such as antitoxins, bacterins, serums, vaccines; as well as establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing antibiotics. Establishments primarily engaged in grinding drugs and herbs are also included.

375 Paint and Varnish Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing paints, varnishes, lacquers, enamels and shellac. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing products such as putty, filler, oil stain, and thinner.

376 Manufacturers of Soap and Cleaning Compounds.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing soap in any form, synthetic detergents, cleansers, washing powders and cleaning preparations including scouring powders and hand cleansers. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing household laundry bleaches and bluing.

377 Manufacturers of Toilet Preparations.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing perfumes, cosmetics, lotions, hair dressings, toothpaste and other toilet preparations.

378 Manufacturers of Industrial Chemicals.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing basic industrial inorganic chemicals such as acids, alkalis, salts, compressed gases and other inorganic compounds or in manufacturing industrial organic chemicals by chemical processes. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing dry colours, pigments, white leads, lead oxides, iron oxides and titanium oxide and in manufacturing dyes. Included also are establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing synthetic rubber and those primarily engaged in manufacturing compressed organic gases. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing coke are classified in Industry No. 291—Iron and Steel Mills or Industry No. 369—Other Petroleum and Coal Products Industries; petroleum refineries are classified in Industry No. 365—Petroleum Refineries; establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing plastics materials are classified in Industry No. 373—Manufacturers of Plastics and Synthetic Resins; establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing superphosphates and mixed fertilizers are classified in Industry No. 372—Manufacturers of Mixed Fertilizers.

379 Other Chemical Industries.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing chemical products not elsewhere classified such as insecticides; germicides, inks, matches, adhesives, polishes and dressings. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in coal tar distillation or wood distillation. Included also are establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing deodorants and disinfectants for household, institutional or industrial use; sweeping compounds and dry-cleaning preparations.

Major Group 20—Miscellaneous Manufacturing Industries

381 Scientific and Professional Equipment Manufacturers.—Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing professional and scientific instruments, including surveyors', nautical, navigational and aeronautical instruments; barometers; thermometers; drafting instruments

DIVISION 5 - MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES - Concluded

- and lenses; photographic equipment and supplies; instruments for laboratory work and scientific research; surgical, dental and medical instruments; mechanical measuring instruments; controlling instruments; and surgical and orthopedic appliances and supplies, such as artificial limbs, arch supports, and artificial teeth and including establishments of dental mechanics (dental laboratories) making dentures, bridges, inlays and other dental restorations on specifications from dentists. This industry includes establishments manufacturing clocks, watches, chronometers and other timing instruments as well as establishments primarily engaged in assembling clocks and watches or in manufacturing watch materials and parts. Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale or retail dealing in watches, clocks, ophthalmic or orthopedic appliances which do some assembling or lens grinding are included in Division 8 - Trade. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing electronic computers, data processors and control devices are included in Industry No. 339 - Manufacturers of Miscellaneous Electrical Products.
- 382 Jewellery and Silverware Manufacturers. - Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing articles of precious metals with or without precious stones, including articles plated with precious metals. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in rolling precious metals or making precious metal alloys as well as those primarily engaged in lapidary work and cutting and polishing diamonds. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing costume jewellery are included.
- 383 Broom, Brush and Mop Industry. - Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing household, industrial and street-sweeping brooms; household, paint and tooth brushes; floor, dust and dish mops.
- 384 Venetian Blind Manufacturers. - Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing venetian blinds or venetian blind parts of any material.
- 385 Plastic Fabricators, n.e.s. - Establishments primarily engaged in moulding, extruding and fabricating special plastic parts for automobiles, radios, toys, and other articles for the trade. Included also are establishments primarily engaged in making plastic articles which cannot be classified conveniently elsewhere, including synthetic sausage casings and plastic and fibreglass awnings. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing plastic articles such as toys, buttons, tooth brushes or any other article for which provision is made elsewhere in the classification should be classified to the appropriate industry.
- 393 Sporting Goods and Toy Industry. - Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing sporting and athletic goods, such as bicycles; fishing tackle; golf and tennis equipment; baseball, football and boxing equipment; skates and equipment for other sports. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing toys of all kinds such as tricycles, dolls, wagons, sleighs; and games.
- 395 Fur Dressing and Dyeing Industry. - Establishments primarily engaged in scraping, currying, tanning, bleaching and dyeing pelts.
- 397 Signs and Displays Industry. - Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing signs and displays including electric signs and neon signs. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing displays of the statuary type such as mannequins or representations of parts of the body are included in Industry No. 399 - Miscellaneous Manufacturing Industries, n.e.s. Establishments primarily engaged in sign painting and lettering are included in Industry No. 869 - Other Services to Business Management.
- 399 Miscellaneous Manufacturing Industries, n.e.s. - Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing pianos, organs, stringed instruments, wind instruments and percussion instruments; recording and duplicating, or in duplicating only, such articles as records, tapes, wires and other media for recording vocal or instrumental performances; fountain pens and parts; ball-point pens; lead and mechanical pencils; crayons; carbon paper, stencil paper, inked ribbons and other typewriter supplies; jewellery cases and instrument cases; statuary; art goods and novelties (except those of stone or concrete); feathers, plumes and artificial flowers; hair, bristles and hair goods; umbrellas and canes; tobacco pipes and cigarette holders; buttons; beauty shop and barber shop equipment; models and patterns of all materials; rubber and metal stamps and stencils; candles; artificial ice; and many other small articles and novelties not included in other classes. Establishments primarily engaged in manufacturing radios, television sets and record, tape or similar players, are classified in Industry No. 334 - Manufacturers of Household Radio and Television Receivers.

DIVISION 6 - CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY

Major Group 1 - General Contractors

- This group includes general contractors primarily engaged in the construction of buildings, highways, or heavy construction such as marine installations, dams, and hydro-electric plants. Establishments that do some construction work but are primarily engaged in another activity such as utility operation, manufacturing, or mining, are classified according to their principal activity.
- 404 Building Construction. - General contractors primarily engaged in the construction of buildings including houses, farm buildings, public buildings, industrial and commercial buildings; or in building alterations and repairs. Establishments primarily engaged in speculative building are included in this industry.
- 406 Highway, Bridge and Street Construction. - General contractors primarily engaged in the construction of highways, grade separations, streets, bridges, viaducts, and airports. Establishments primarily engaged in highway or street maintenance (e.g. tarring, sprinkling, filling potholes, snow removal) are included in Industry No. 516 - Highway and Bridge Maintenance.
- 409 Other Construction. - General contractors primarily engaged in the construction of such projects as waterworks, gas mains, sewers, hydro-electric plants, transmission lines, telephone lines, power canals, dams, dykes, harbours and canals (including dredging), docks and piers, other marine construction, radio towers, railway right of way and structures and other construction projects, not elsewhere classified.

DIVISION 6 - CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY - Concluded

Major Group 2 - Special-Trade Contractors

- 421 Special-Trade Contractors.—Special-trade contractors primarily engaged in construction work. Special-trade contractors perform only part of the work covered by a contract taken by a general contractor. In all instances a sub-contractor working on part of a project is classified in this industry as is jobbing trade work performed directly for owners. Special-trade contractors are often engaged in repair and maintenance work, done at site, on buildings of all types. However, maintenance or repair work done by maintenance staffs in the full-time employ of the establishments on whose premises the work is being done is excluded and such maintenance employees are classified as part of the main establishment. Establishments primarily engaged in some other activity such as the fabrication of structural steel parts but which also erect the steel on the site, are classified in accordance with their principal activity. Special-trade contractors classified in this industry include those engaged in bricklaying, carpentry, cement work, electrical work, lathing, plastering, stucco work, painting, decorating, plumbing, heating, air conditioning installations, roofing, sheet metal work, tiling, marble and stone work, terrazzo work, steel erection, excavating, flooring, glazing, insulation of buildings, weather stripping, demolition of buildings, water well drilling.

DIVISION 7 - TRANSPORTATION, COMMUNICATION AND OTHER UTILITIES

Major Group 1 - Transportation

- 501 Air Transport.—Establishments primarily engaged in the transportation of mail, express, freight or passengers by air.

- 502 Services Incidental to Air Transport.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating and maintaining civilian airports, flying schools and clubs, or facilities for servicing aircraft. Establishments primarily engaged in overhauling or re-building aircraft or aircraft engines are included in Industry No. 321—Aircraft and Parts Manufacturers.

- 504 Water Transport.—Establishments primarily engaged in the operation of vessels for the transportation of freight and passengers whether overseas or on inland and intercoastal waterways. This industry also includes water transportation of a local nature, such as the operation of ferries across rivers or in harbours; the operation of lighters and other harbour vessels and marine towing and tugboat services.

- 505 Services Incidental to Water Transport.—Establishments primarily engaged in furnishing services incidental to water transport, such as the operation and maintenance of piers, docks, wharves and associated facilities for hire; stevedoring; salvaging; steamship agencies, and canals. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in supplying pilot service. Establishments primarily engaged in operating lighthouses, or in carrying out hydrographic surveys are included in Industry No. 909—Other Federal Administration.

- 506 Railway Transport.—Establishments primarily engaged in the operation of railways for the transport of freight and passengers. This includes inter-urban railways but excludes street railways. Transportation and express services are classified in this industry along with maintenance of way and structures and establishments primarily engaged in operating railroad terminal facilities. Excluded from this industry are establishments operated by railway companies and primarily engaged in providing telegraph service (Industry No. 545—Telegraph and Cable Systems); hotels (Industry No. 875—Hotels, Restaurants and Taverns); water transport (Industry No. 504—Water Transport); and shops for the building and major overhauling of railway rolling stock (Industry No. 326—Railroad Rolling Stock Industry). Establishments primarily engaged in railway construction are classified in Industry No. 409—Other Construction.

- 507 Truck Transport.—Establishments primarily engaged in the provision of local and long distance trucking, transfer, and related services. This industry includes contract truckers even though the equipment they use is highly specialized. Establishments primarily engaged in operating animal-drawn vehicles in the transportation of goods and services are included in Industry No. 519—Other Transportation.

- 508 Bus Transport, Inter-urban and Rural.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating inter-urban bus and coach lines. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in operating a central bus terminal for several bus lines.

- 509 Urban Transit Systems.—Establishments primarily engaged in furnishing urban and suburban transportation whether by electric railway, trolley coach, bus, or subway. Urban transit systems may also include ferries and any other means of transport forming part of an integrated system of urban passenger transport.

- 512 Taxicab Operations.—Establishments primarily engaged in furnishing passenger transportation by automobiles not operated on a regular route or between fixed terminals. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in providing services for taxicab owners. These services may include telephone and radio telephone operations as well as maintenance and repair services for the members. Establishments primarily engaged in renting cars with driver and in operating limousines to airports or stations are included in Industry No. 519—Other Transportation.

- 515 Pipeline Transport.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating pipelines for the transport of goods including crude oil, natural gas and gasoline. This industry is not restricted to establishments transporting petroleum products but it includes establishments primarily engaged in operating pipelines regardless of the commodity transported.

- 516 Highway and Bridge Maintenance.—Establishments primarily engaged in the operation of fixed facilities for motor vehicle transportation such as highways, bridges and tunnels. Separate terminal facilities are included with the related industry such as taxicab operations, truck transport, bus transport.

- 517 Other Services Incidental to Transport.—Establishments primarily engaged in furnishing services incidental to transportation, such as tourist agencies, forwarding, packing, crating, inspection and weighing services. Included are establishments primarily engaged in operating parking lots and garages for live storage of automobiles. Dead storage of automobiles is included in Industry No. 527—Other Storage and Warehousing. Government travel agencies are included in Industry No. 909—Other Federal Administration or Industry No. 931—Provincial Administration.

DIVISION 7—TRANSPORTATION, COMMUNICATION AND OTHER UTILITIES—Concluded

- 519 Other Transportation.—Establishments primarily engaged in providing transportation services not elsewhere classified. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in operating sight-seeing buses, automobiles for hire with driver, limousines to airports or stations, ambulances, school buses, and animal-drawn vehicles for the transport of passengers or freight. Establishments primarily engaged in renting automobiles or trucks without driver are included in Industry No. 899—Other Miscellaneous Services.

Major Group 2—Storage

- 524 Grain Elevators.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating country elevators or terminal elevators for the storage of grain. Country grain elevators under contract to the Canadian Wheat Board and which, therefore, do not sell grain on their own account, are included in this industry. The industry also includes establishments of the Board of Grain Commissioners primarily engaged in operating grain elevators. Establishments primarily engaged in buying and selling grain, whether operated by the Board of Grain Commissioners or not, are classified in Industry No. 604—Wholesalers of Grain.

- 527 Other Storage and Warehousing.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating cold storage or other storage facilities or warehouses. Warehouses and storage facilities operated as an ancillary activity by establishments primarily engaged in another line of business are not included in this industry but are classified according to the principal activity of the establishment concerned.

Major Group 3—Communication

- 543 Radio and Television Broadcasting.—Establishments primarily engaged in radio and television broadcasting and in the operation of radio and television broadcasting studios for the purpose of broadcasting programs of entertainment, news, talks and the like. This industry includes broadcasting systems such as those operated by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and privately owned stations and networks providing a broadcasting service similar to that of the CBC. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in operating closed circuit radio or television systems providing a variety of programs, such as those broadcast by the CBC, to particular subscribers. Establishments primarily engaged in broadcasting messages for a fee are included in Industry No. 545—Telegraph and Cable Systems. Establishments primarily engaged in operating closed circuit television or radio systems to provide a communication service are included in Industry No. 545—Telegraph and Cable Systems, whereas those providing such service to assist particular industrial processes are included in Industry No. 869—Other Services to Business Management.

- 544 Telephone Systems.—Establishments, whether owned by governments or not, primarily engaged in providing telephone service which sometimes includes the construction of telephone lines. These systems often include maintenance of equipment and lines and the operation of telephone schools for the training of operators.
- 545 Telegraph and Cable Systems.—Establishments primarily engaged in transmitting messages by telegraph, cable or wireless for a fee. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in providing teletype service, wirephoto service, or a system of coaxial cables for closed circuit communication systems.

- 548 Post Office.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating a postal service. In the main this industry contains establishments of the post office operated by the Government of Canada, but it includes also establishments (including individuals working alone) primarily engaged in carrying on one or more functions of the postal service on a contract basis, e.g. rural mail carriers or postmasters.

Major Group 4—Electric Power, Gas and Water Utilities

- 572 Electric Power.—Establishments primarily engaged in the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity, whether owned by governments or not. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in the generation and transmission of electric power even if all or almost all of the power is used in a particular manufacturing, mining, or other plant. An establishment primarily engaged in building a hydro-electric generating station, including dams and other heavy construction work, is included in Industry No. 409—Other Construction, whether or not it is owned by a company engaged in the generation and transmission of electric power.

- 574 Gas Distribution.—Establishments primarily engaged in the distribution of natural or manufactured gas through a system of mains. Establishments included in this industry may also manufacture their own gas. The operation of natural gas wells is included in Industry No. 063—Petroleum and Gas Wells. Establishments primarily engaged in operating pipelines for transport of natural gas are included in Industry No. 515—Pipeline Transport.

- 576 Water Systems.—Establishments primarily engaged in the processing and distribution of water for household and other purposes. Establishments included in this industry are often known as Water Boards or Water Commissions and are often associated with local governments. This industry also includes establishments primarily engaged in distributing water for irrigation.

- 579 Other Utilities.—Establishments primarily engaged in producing and distributing steam, in garbage or sewage disposal, or in operating a utility not elsewhere classified.

DIVISION 8—TRADE

Major Group 1—Wholesale Trade

Establishments in wholesale trade are primarily engaged in buying merchandise for resale to retailers; to industrial, commercial, institutional or professional users; to other wholesalers; or in acting as agents in connection with such transactions. Sales to farmers of farm supplies and equipment such as feeds, fertilizers, seeds and machinery are considered as wholesale sales. Sales to farmers as household consumers of such items as food, clothing and household equipment, are considered to be retail sales. Thus, establishments primarily engaged in buying for resale such commodities as office equipment, store equipment, lumber and building materials, farm machinery and equipment, and similar products sold wholly or mainly to other business concerns, are considered to be wholesalers. In order to determine whether a particular dealer (such as a fuel dealer, hardware dealer) is a wholesaler or retailer, it is necessary to ascertain what proportion of his sales during the appropriate period was made to different kinds of buyers.

For purposes of industrial classification, wholesale establishments are classified by kind of business according to the principal lines of commodities sold. Wholesalers are sometimes classified also by type of operation, but this classification is independent of the industrial classification. Some surveys, however, cover only certain types and although they may use the standard industrial classes for this more limited coverage, the resulting data are not comparable with those based upon complete coverage. The type of operation categories are as follows:

- Wholesalers Proper
- Manufacturers' Sales Branches and Offices
- Agents and Brokers
- Other Types of Operation

For a description of these types, see Appendix II, page 53 of this manual.

602 Wholesalers of Livestock.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in cattle, horses, sheep and other livestock.

604 Wholesalers of Grain.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in wheat and other grains. This industry includes the Canadian Wheat Board, grain brokers, and country grain elevators except those under contract to the Canadian Wheat Board. Terminal elevators and those country elevators under contract to the Canadian Wheat Board are included in Industry No. 524—Grain Elevators.

606 Wholesalers of Coal and Coke.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in coal, coke, briquettes and related fuel.

608 Wholesalers of Petroleum Products.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in gasoline, lubricating oils and greases, fuel oil, engine distillate, liquefied petroleum gases and related products.

611 Wholesalers of Paper and Paper Products.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in paper, including newsprint, and paper products; stationery and stationery supplies; office and school supplies (except furniture and office machines).

613 Wholesalers of General Merchandise.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in a diversified line of merchandise of which hardware, foods, clothing, and sporting goods, toys and games are the most important.

614 Wholesalers of Food.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in a specialty line of foods or in any combination of dairy products, poultry products, fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, groceries, meat, meat products, fish, fish products, biscuits, other bakery products, breakfast cereals, canned foods, coffee, tea, spices, cocoa, flour, sugar, confectionery, soft drinks, frozen or frosted foods, or other foods or food products.

615 Wholesalers of Tobacco Products.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and other tobacco products. Wholesalers of cured tobacco are included but wholesalers of raw leaf tobacco are classified in Industry No. 629—Wholesalers, n.e.s.

616 Wholesalers of Drugs and Toilet Preparations.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in proprietary and patent medicines, pharmaceuticals, druggists' sundries, cosmetics, toiletries, toilet preparations, toilet soap. Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in chemicals, laundry soap, detergents and cleansers are included in Industry No. 629—Wholesalers, n.e.s.

617 Wholesalers of Apparel and Dry Goods.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in clothing, hats, furs, footwear, dry goods, piece goods and notions.

618 Wholesalers of Furniture and House Furnishings.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in household furniture; carpets, rugs and other floor coverings; blankets, curtains, draperies, linens; china, crockery and glassware. Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in office and professional furniture are classified in Industry No. 623—Wholesalers of Machinery and Equipment, n.e.s., while those primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in hardware but who handle some crockery and glassware are classified in Industry No. 624—Wholesalers of Hardware, Plumbing and Heating Equipment.

619 Wholesalers of Motor Vehicles and Accessories.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in motor vehicles, motor vehicle accessories and parts, including tires. Included are establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in garage and service station equipment.

621 Wholesalers of Electrical Machinery Equipment and Supplies.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in electric power equipment such as generators, transformers, electric motors and electrical instruments; household electrical appliances and accessories; radios, television sets and related equipment; wiring devices and other electrical supplies.

622 Wholesalers of Farm Machinery and Equipment.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in new or used farm machinery, farm implements, tractors, other farm equipment and parts. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in selling this equipment directly to farmers as well as those selling to equipment dealers. Included are establishments primarily engaged in repair of farm machinery, implements, tractors and the like.

623 Wholesalers of Machinery and Equipment, n.e.s.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in all kinds of new or used machinery, equipment and supplies not included in other wholesale industries. Machinery dealers classified in this industry include those mainly engaged in handling manufacturing, mining, construction and commercial machinery, transportation equipment (except motor vehicles), powerhouse equipment except electrical, and equipment parts for railroads, aircraft, ships and boats. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in or repair of, business, institutional and professional furniture, equipment and machinery—including establishments that sell directly to the business, institutional or professional users of the furniture and equipment. Included also are wholesalers of optical and ophthalmic goods.

624 Wholesalers of Hardware, Plumbing and Heating Equipment.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in any combination of the basic lines of hardware such as builders' hardware, heavy hardware, shelf and light hardware, tools and cutlery; plumbing and heating equipment such as stoves, ranges, heaters, furnaces, gas appliances and supplies, oil burners and plumbing fixtures. This industry includes wholesalers of air conditioning equipment except those primarily engaged in handling the small window type of air conditioning unit which are included in Industry No. 621—Wholesalers of Electrical Machinery Equipment and Supplies.

625 Wholesalers of Metal and Metal Products, n.e.s.—

Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in metals and metal products not included in another wholesale industry. Establishments included here are those primarily engaged in handling products such as structural shapes and plates, bars, rods, sheet metal, wire and wire products, pipe and tubes. Included also are establishments primarily engaged in handling non-ferrous metals and metal work as well as those primarily engaged in handling metal concentrates and ores. Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in metal machinery and equipment are classified in either Industry No. 621; Industry No. 622, or Industry No. 623; in hardware, plumbing and heating equipment in Industry No. 624; and in building materials in Industry No. 626.

626 Wholesalers of Lumber and Building Materials.—

Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in lumber and planing mill products; roofing materials; sand and gravel; brick, tile, cement and other building materials. Also included are establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in glass, paints and varnishes. Establishments primarily engaged in mixing and delivering ready-mixed concrete are included in Industry No. 348—Ready-Mix Concrete Manufacturers;

627 Wholesalers of Scrap and Waste Materials.—

Establishments primarily engaged in assembling, breaking up, sorting and selling all kinds of scrap, junk and waste materials such as iron and steel scrap, other metal scrap, waste paper, rags, rubber, bottles.

629 Wholesalers, n.e.s.—

Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale dealing in a commodity or class of commodities not elsewhere classified, such as farm supplies (feeds, fertilizers, seeds); raw leaf tobacco; jewellery, watches, clocks; leather and leather goods; liquor, wine and beer; amusement, sporting and photographic goods; books, periodicals and newspapers; used goods except machinery and automotive equipment or scrap and waste; chemicals, laundry soaps, detergents and cleansers; musical instruments. For purposes such as the population census, this industry also includes manufacturers' agents not otherwise reported, as well as jobbers, wholesalers, importers and exporters not otherwise reported.

Major Group 2—Retail Trade

Establishments included in retail trade are those primarily engaged in buying commodities for resale to the general public for personal or household consumption. In general, retail establishments are classified by kind of business according to the principal lines of commodities sold although in some cases, such as general merchandise stores, they are distinguished by the kind of organization (department store) or price range of articles carried (variety store). Processing which is incidental or subordinate to the selling activity is sometimes carried on in retail stores, e.g. tea blending or spice grinding in food stores. Ancillary units are associated with some kinds of retail establishments, e.g. warehouses or garages operated by department stores or chain stores.

Establishments such as farm machinery dealers and dealers in farm supplies which sell to the farmer as a farm operator are considered to be in wholesale trade but those which sell to farmers as household consumers, e.g. food or apparel stores, are included in retail trade. Similarly, lumber and building materials dealers and sellers of office furniture, machines and equipment; industrial machinery; commercial and professional furniture, machinery and equipment, are classed as wholesalers because they sell mainly to other businesses.

Food Stores

- 631 Food Stores.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in bread and other bakery products, candy and confectionery, dairy products, fresh fruits and vegetables, groceries, meats, tea, coffee, spices, health foods or other specialized food lines. Delicatessen stores are included. Retail bakeries included in this industry are those that sell mainly purchased goods while bakeshops which sell mainly products of their own manufacture are in Industry No. 129—Bakeries. Establishments primarily engaged in pasteurizing and bottling fresh milk are included in Industry No. 105—Dairy Factories even though they sell the milk at retail. Thus, the retailers of milk included in this industry are those that buy and sell pasteurized milk or sell unpasteurized milk.

General Merchandise Stores

- 642 Department Stores.—Establishments engaged in retail dealing in a full range of commodities including apparel, dry goods, furniture, house furnishings and large household appliances and organized on a departmental basis. Departmental organization in this instance means that each department is operated essentially as a separate specialty store. Thus, in a department store the department manager is responsible for the buying and selling policies of his department including the setting of prices and the department has its own staff of sales personnel. Facilities such as space, warehousing, delivery, furniture and fixtures, and central office services are operated by the central administration of the store but each department is charged for its use of these services. In a general merchandise store that is not departmentalized, the common expenses are often charged against commodities or closely related groups of commodities while in a department store they are charged against departments. To be classed as a department store, a store must have total sales of at least $500,000 a year. Included in this industry are mail-order offices operated by department store organizations.

- 647 Variety Stores.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in a wide range of merchandise made up largely of low-priced articles. Traditionally, these stores are known as 5¢ and 10¢ to $1.00 stores. Variety stores have the goods openly displayed and priced and the customer makes his own selection directly from the displayed merchandise. Where there are sales clerks they merely wrap the goods and accept payment and do not necessarily assist the customer in making a choice.

- 649 Other General Merchandise Stores.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in a general line of merchandise on a non-departmental basis. Stores of this type in rural communities are usually known as "Country General Stores" whose most important line is food and important subsidiary lines are notions, ready-to-wear apparel, farm supplies and gasoline.

Retailers of Automotive Products

- 652 Accessory, Parts, Tire and Battery Shops.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in new or used tires, tubes, batteries and other automotive parts and accessories. Establishments primarily engaged in tire repair are included. Establishments primarily engaged in automobile repair are classified in Industry No. 658—Motor Vehicle Repair Shops.

DIVISION 8 — TRADE — Concluded

654 Gasoline Service Stations.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in gasoline, lubricating oils and greases. These establishments are sometimes known as filling stations or service stations. Included are establishments primarily engaged in washing and polishing automobiles.

656 Motor Vehicle Dealers.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in new and used automobiles and trucks. Such establishments usually have departments engaged in motor vehicle repair and often a service station.

658 Motor Vehicle Repair Shops.—Establishments primarily engaged in the repair of motor vehicles; auto body work and painting; and such specialized work as ignition systems, carburetors, front end alignment, frame straightening, exhaust system, brake shops. Repair shops owned and operated by concerns for their own use and not offering their services to the general public should be excluded; they are classified along with the main establishment. Establishments (filling stations and service stations) primarily engaged in retail dealing in gasoline and oil are classified in Industry No. 654—Gasoline Service Stations. Establishments primarily engaged in repairing tractors and farm implements are included in Industry No. 622—Wholesalers of Farm Machinery and Equipment.

Apparel and Shoe Stores

663 Shoe Stores.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in men's, women's, children's and infants' footwear of leather, rubber or other materials. Establishments primarily engaged in boot and shoe repair are classified in Industry No. 871—Shoe Repair Shops.

Included are establishments primarily engaged in filling prescriptions or in selling proprietary and patent medicines as well as specialized herb stores primarily engaged in making up and selling herbal medicines.

Other Retail Stores

691 Book and Stationery Stores.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in new or used books, stationery, office and school supplies.

692 Florists' Shops.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in plants and cut flowers. Establishments operating nurseries and greenhouses which sell mainly their own products through their own retail stores are included in Industry No. 019—Miscellaneous Specialty Farms.

693 Fuel Dealers.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in coal, coke, fuel wood and fuel oil.

694 Jewellery Stores.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in new or used jewellery, watches and clocks. Many such establishments have a department engaged in watch, clock and jewellery repair.

695 Watch and Jewellery Repair Shops.—Establishments primarily engaged in watch, clock and jewellery repair or jewellery engraving. Many such establishments also sell some jewellery and watches.

696 Liquor, Wine and Beer Stores.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in liquor, wine and beer. Many of these establishments are government liquor stores or are stores operated by groups of wine growers or breweries. Establishments that sell liquor by the glass for consumption on the premises are classified in Industry No. 875—Hotels, Restaurants and Taverns.

697 Tobacconists.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in tobacco, cigars and cigarettes.

699 Retail Stores, n.e.s.—Establishments primarily engaged in retail dealing in eye-glasses and related optical goods but excluding those who also do optometry work which are included in Industry No. 827—Other Health Services. Included also are establishments primarily engaged in retailing such commodities as house trailers or mobile homes, prefabricated houses, art goods, souvenirs, musical instruments, motorcycles, bicycles, sporting goods, photographic supplies, luggage, leather goods, pets, magazines, newspapers, ice, second-hand merchandise. Included are establishments primarily engaged in repair of luggage and leather goods, fountain pen repair, musical instrument repair and bicycle repair. Pawnshops are also included. Establishments specializing in second-hand automobiles, furniture, jewellery, books, or household appliances are included in the same industries as those selling these products new.

DIVISION 9—FINANCE, INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE

Major Group 1—Financial Institutions

702 Savings and Credit Institutions.—Establishments primarily engaged in carrying on a banking business or a similar savings or credit function. Included in this industry are the chartered banks, the Bank of Canada, the Industrial Development Bank, savings banks, savings and loan associations, trust companies, mortgage loan companies, commercial credit companies, agricultural credit institutions, personal credit institutions, instalment sales finance companies, and Federal Government lending agencies such as the Canadian Farm Loan Board.

731 Insurance Carriers.—Establishments primarily engaged in underwriting insurance contracts of all kinds.

735 Insurance and Real Estate Agencies.—Establishments primarily engaged in dealing in insurance but which do not underwrite, and establishments primarily engaged in dealing in real estate, i.e. renting, buying and selling for others, managing and appraising real estate for others. Included in this industry are organizations such as insurance adjusters offering services to insurance companies and to policyholders as well as combined insurance and real estate dealers.

737 Real Estate Operators.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating real estate or in developing or improving unimproved real property. Included in this industry are operators of non-residential buildings, apartment buildings, trailer sites of a "permanent" nature such as those near mines or construction projects, other dwellings, and owners of agricultural, forest, mining, railroad, public utility and other kinds of real property which are rented out to the operators. This industry includes establishments primarily engaged in subdividing and developing real estate. This industry does not include establishments primarily engaged in operating hotels, rooming houses, camps, trailer camps or other lodging places which are included in Industry No. 875—Hotels, Restaurants and Taverns or Industry No. 876—Lodging Houses and Residential Clubs.

DIVISION 10—COMMUNITY, BUSINESS AND PERSONAL SERVICE INDUSTRIES

Major Group 1—Education and Related Services

801 Elementary and Secondary Schools.—Establishments primarily engaged in providing education at the elementary and secondary school levels. This industry includes school boards or boards of education operating primary or secondary school systems as well as private, public or sectarian schools at those levels. Included also are nursery schools and kindergartens, correspondence schools primarily engaged in offering general elementary and secondary education, and schools for handicapped children. For purposes of the Population Census, the industry description "school" not otherwise defined, is coded to this industry. If schools on military bases or Indian schools are separate establishments, they are included in this industry.

803 Vocational Schools.—Establishments primarily engaged in operating trade schools, technical institutes, commercial or business schools, agricultural schools, correspondence schools (except those included in Industry 801), schools for training nurses' aides or nursing assistants, bible colleges, and similar vocational schools that do not offer a university degree. This industry includes offices maintained for the sale of correspondence courses and school boards or boards of education primarily engaged in the operation of a system of vocational training. Excluded are barber colleges and schools for beauty parlour operators which are included in Industry No. 872—Barber and Beauty Shops.

Industrial schools (by whatever name they are known) that are corrective or reform institutions are excluded and are classified in Industry No. 931—Provincial Administration. Correspondence schools operated by Provincial Departments of Education as separate establishments are classified in Industry No. 801—Elementary and Secondary Schools.

931 Provincial Administration.-Establishments of provincial governments primarily engaged in activities associated with public administration. Establishments owned or operated by provincial governments and primarily engaged in such activities as generating and distributing electric power, communication, liquor sales, health services, education services, are classified to the appropriate industries.

Major Group 3 - Local Administration

951 Local Administration.-Establishments primarily engaged in public administration at the local level. Included are municipal government departments and agencies as well as county, township, village and other local government administrative agencies. The departments and agencies included in this industry are those primarily engaged in performing services that are essentially of a public administration character. Excluded are establishments engaged in transportation, communication, health services, educational services, water supply or other activities included in other industries.

Major Group 4 - Other Government Offices

991 Other Government Offices.-Establishments in Canada of Commonwealth or foreign governments primarily engaged in governmental service activities such as consular, diplomatic, and legation activities. Commonwealth and foreign establishments engaged in activities such as air transportation, cable and wireless service, or any other activity included in other industries are classified to the appropriate industries.

DIVISION 12 - INDUSTRY UNSPECIFIED OR UNDEFINED

999 Unspecified or Undefined.-This class is provided for the use of the Population Census and other surveys obtaining information from individuals. It includes those having an activity included in the labour force but not specified in the returns with sufficient precision to be assigned to a particular industry.

APPENDIX II

Classification of Wholesalers by Type¹

Some surveys cover only a particular type of wholesale operation. The principal types, which are identified in the appropriate bulletins, are as follows:

Wholesalers Proper.—Establishments that buy and sell on their own account. In addition they may perform one or more of the following related functions: breaking bulk, providing delivery service to customers, operating warehouse facilities for storage of the goods they sell. Included in this category are wholesalers known as: drop shippers or desk jobbers, export merchants, import merchants, mail order wholesalers, voluntary group wholesalers, wagon distributors, wholesale merchants.

Manufacturers' Sales Branches and Offices.—Establishments primarily engaged in wholesale trade which are owned and operated by manufacturers. These establishments may or may not carry a stock of merchandise.

Agents and Brokers.—Except for those included in the two types immediately above, establishments engaged in selling, on a commission basis, products owned by others. This type includes wholesalers commonly known as: Auction Companies, Brokers, Commission Merchants, Export Agents and Brokers, Import Agents and Brokers, Manufacturers' Agents, Purchasing Agents and Resident Buyers, Selling Agents.

Other Types of Operation.—A residual group. It includes distributing warehouses which combine the functions of storage and distribution of goods, brewers' warehouses and agencies, government owned companies.
